I INTRODUCTION

As I write this introduction in the first days of 2020, I consider my family story to be supremely American. It is a story of immigrants who arrived and fell in with the tides of history, present-day included. Our immediate family is fully midwestern, based in Columbus, Ohio. We comprise three generations: the grandparents, the parents, and my own cohort. At every holiday, birthday, graduation, and sporting event—plus most weekends—you will find the same cast of characters. We root for the Ohio State Buckeyes football team, and there is often casserole at mealtime.

This book focuses on our most recently immigrated ancestors: The enigmatic DeVincenzos from "northern" Italy. At 87 years old, my grandfather Robert Peter Winchester, born Robert DeVincenzo, serves as the reigning patriarch of our Ohio family. We know him less formally as Bob, Dad, Papa Bob, and occasionally "Bahumbug" at Christmas time. His ancestors were all Italian, but ask about them and he will remind you of our American identity, as he was reminded as a child: "You are American. You speak English." The refrain was repeated to him many times and he faithfully recounts it in response to our endless questions. Within the family, the only Italian phrase that has survived the passing of years is the evolutionary MAN-gia TA-gia, always uttered at the dinner table in thick, firm, New-York American English. Translation: eat and shut up! Likely from the Italian, mangia taccia, which translates to the commands "eat" and "close it."

My research indicates that our Italian story begins in the province of Liguria, in northern Italy. This both confirms my grandfather's asssertion that his grandparents were from the north, near Genoa, and validates his mother Annette's fervent instruction to cut spaghetti with a fork. (We aren't "Sicilian meatballs," after all!) All four of Bob's grandparents emigrated from Italy to New York City, where Bob was born Robert DeVincenzo, and our present-day story begins.

Signed,
Samantha Siefert

II WINCHESTER

The Winchester family name was chosen rather than given at birth. In 1942, the already difficult reputation of being Italian in New York City was magnified by Italy's fascist alliances in World War II, so the family opted for an English last name. According to family hearsay, Charles DeVincenzo, or Charlie Winchester, was the first to make the change. Charlie and Harry both worked in the construction industry together, so Harry thought it would be best to follow suit.

The documentation on the following pages indicates that the change was made legal on 7 January 1942 for our set, but the family had likely begun the switch years earlier. It appears that even John DeVincenzo Sr. had adopted the name, at least unofficially, at the time of the 1930 census.

The name change was a closely guarded family secret for many years. In 1968, Ronnie Winchester recalls overhearing whispers between his mother and his brothers on the day of his father's funeral: "Should we tell him?"

Autobiography

The following are notes taken from a telephone conversation with my grandfather and grandmother in April of 2020. I had mailed him a few questions about his life, and in response he wrote down a quick summary of the basic facts: his residences, his family, his education, etc. The quiet quarantine of the Covid-19 pandemic afforded us plenty of time to chat, and we were able to add a little color to the details.

Jamaica Bay area was a big marshy area. We used to go out there when they were building Idlewild airport. They pumped it full of garbage and then put sand on top. A lot of the south shore is filled with garbage. It made good landfill. They compacted it and it worked out fine. We used to go watch while they were building it. Lots of people would go while they were dumping the garbage and pick out cans and stuff to salvage the metal. There was plenty of garbage and they finally filled it up.

I went canoeing on Jamaica Bay too. A friend of mine, Ron Spielman, he had the canoe and we would go out there and canoe around. This other guy one day was trying to cause trouble in this canoe. Ron said, "Go that way! Go that way!" and so we sailed over to this shallow part of the bay and that guy kept following us and boom! He hit a sandbar and got stuck.

And also, one summer in college I delivered mail at night down on the west side of Brooklyn.
I used to pick up the mail in the Bronx and then I delivered it to all these different A&P stores on the west side of Brooklyn. I would drop off the mail they received and pick up the mail they wanted to send back to headquarters.

And before I was done, this other guy who delivered the mail, I would meet him down in Coney Island and we would have a beer together.

We had company A&P cars and we would kind of race each other back up Flatbrush Avenue to return the company cars.

Then after I got home, I slept for maybe 2-4 hours, then I got up, then if it was a nice day maybe I would go to the beach for a little while, then I would go deliver the mail again.

One other summer I worked at an oil and gas field out in Wyoming. Then I was an ROTC of course.
I can't think of the name of the town. But anyhow, it was a good time.

And then I went to work for Columbia Gas in Norwalk, Ohio. I went to Columbus first, then to Norwalk, then back to Columbus.

How did you get your first job with Columbia Gas?

I was in college and the head of the mining department worked for Columbia Gas. One thing led to another, and I got a job in Oklahoma, in Bartletsville, in the City Service. But I broke my wrist.

How did you break your wrist?

Well…… don't ask that story! That's a long story! I broke my wrist in college, it was practically my last night. I was drinking beer and I fell backwards.

(Meema: You were a junior, on a car).

I thought you broke both wrists Papa Bob?

I did!

Did you break them at the same time?

Yeah.

Now your mother wants me to tell you the story of how it happened. I was out with the boys and we'd had a few beers. And we came out and this one guy got in his car and he was going to leave and I said no! no! no! and I leaned over onto his hood a little bit. And then he moved forward a little bit and I jumped back and fell backwards.

The next morning I got up and they were swollen like mad. If you've ever noticed, I can't move my wrists back more than 45 degrees.

You didn't know they were broken that night?

No, the next morning I woke up and they were swollen so I went to the infirmary and they said, "yep, they're broken."

Oklahoma said they couldn't keep me on because my wrists were broken. So I called Columbia Gas in New York and this guy said he had a job in Columbus Ohio and he asked if I wanted it. I said "sure." And so here we are. That was in 1965.

How would you say your life is different from your parents' lives?

Well they stayed in New York and I went to Missouri. And then Columbus. Also. I loved to go camping. They never went camping. When I was in high school I used to go camping up towards Bear Mountain, which is just south of West Point.

I told you about the time we were hitchhiking, and we got picked up by this young priest. We told him we were going to go camping, and he says, "You are? How long are you going to be?" We said just the weekend and then we would go back. And so we were driving along and driving along, and finally the priest says, "Well I've got this church up across the way from Bear Mountain and we've got canoes and stuff. You can come up and stay there." And so we had the run of the place for the weekend. It was like a school for kids. They had a gym and a swimming pool. They must have been out of school like us. The priest never bugged us. He didn't mind, as long as we didn't do any damage he didn't care. We never used the pool or the gym or anything; we were just down in the woods. And then when he was ready to go home he came out and we were already packed up and he took us back home. It was right on the Hudson River. We could watch the boats go up and down and whatever.

What were your friends' names?

I can't think of my friends' names. That was a long time ago. Can you?

I remember some of them, but I don't have to go as far back in my memory.

When you get older, you'll remember some of their faces and everything, but you'll have a hard time remembering all the details and everything else you did.

How would you compare your children's lives to your life?

My kids' lives? You mean Chris and Ja'Nel and Annette?

Yeah

I don't know. I can't compare. If they enjoyed their life; I enjoyed my life. They lived a different one? Fine. I don't think any of them liked to go camping. They didn't go down to Rockaway beach like I did. They didn't have that opportunity.

(Meema: They went to Cedar Point though!)

Yeah, but not every weekend like I did, Betty. I could take the Long Island Railroad to go down to the beach.

Did you like growing up in New York, Papa Bob?

Yeah, I guess. But I didn't mind getting out of there. I didn't want to live there the rest of my life.

I think you had a pretty good life Papa Bob.

Oh I enjoyed it. I can't complain.

Yep, the best thing I did though. Was back in high school, just before I graduated. I got this thing that said "Mail this in to get information about the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy." I sent it in, and off I went.

I'm just like you. You took off and where'd you settle? In Texas!

If you're not enjoying what you're doing, find something else that you would enjoy doing and do that. But don't do anything stupid! At ROTC we had this one sergeant. He said to us, you're just here for two weeks. Don't do anything stupid. And we didn't.

Bob's 90th Birthday

Phone call with Samantha Siefert and Bob Winchester on 5 January 2023

Happy birthday Papa Bob! How do you feel?

With my fingers, the same as always!

Yeah, yeah. What are you doing today, got any plans?

Hopefully I can just sit here all day. (Meema shouts in the background.) T*hey're going to make me do something. They're going to drive me crazy today.*

It'll be fun!

I hope so.

How many people have called you?

Just you! I won't let anybody else call me. They'll just cuss me out!

You must have done something naughty!

Well I don't think so! If they feel that way, fine, I don't mind!

Yeah phone calls are pretty benign.

Sticks and stones... My head's splitting though. I've got a head cold

Sinuses?

I guess. Betty says allergies too. She says I don't have a cold though, so that's that I don't have a cold.

Papa Bob, can you imagine 90 years ago today?

I can't remember I wasn't born yet!

You were just being born, right? In Queens?

Yeah, but where in Queens?

Ozone Park?

Nope.

Richomnd Hill?

I don't think so. I think it was more towards Jamaica. And I was christened that very house I lived in.

You were baptized?

Nope. I was sitting by a window and my brother threw a pillow at me, and I threw a pillow at him, and he threw a pillow at me… and I went through a window!

Oh no!

And then, I don't know, when we lived on 108th street, I forget exactly how I did it, but I cut my head there too! …So I got a bloody head.

You need to be careful!

I will. I wear my helmet all the time.

I like that idea. What color helmet?

Don't you see that old helmet down in the basement? from WWI?

That was from Meema's dad, right?

Yeah, that was Betty's father's helmet from the first world war. Wait wait, Meema's saying something…She says wish you were here.

I wish I was there too!

Yeah, we need somebody at the party to shake things up.

Alright Papa Bob. You do your exercises and get ready to party!

Alright. You take care honey. Give me a kiss.

kisses

Buh-bye, we love ya.

Legacy: The Family Pets

The Winchester family had a dog named Tuffy, and they kept chickens and pigeons at their home in Richmond Hill, New York.

Pictured: (left) The Winchester family dog, Tuffy, (right) Man on Roof Tending Pigeon Brood, Third Avenue, ca 1940. Museum of the City of New York. 80.102.178.

Bob Winchester remembers—

One day I was cleaning the pigeon room and the chicken coop, and I was coming inside and my mom said, "look at him!" I was covered in lice. They had to wash me down with kerosene.

In 19%% we moved from 109 28 (or 98?) 109 street Richmond Hill to Ozone Park, right off Atlantic Avenue. And they had to get rid of the chickens. So we were eating chicken and eating chicken and we got to the last day and we had to eat my pet chicken.

Did you cry?

A little bit.

Did your pet chicken have a name?

No, I didn't give those names. Our dog was Tuffy. That was just my favorite chicken. When I saw him, I liked him.

Then there was a time we had company. My Dad was giving everyone eggs and eggs and eggs. And the next morning my Dad said, "Here's some money. Go down and buy some eggs for breakfast!"

Legacy: Raffetto's

Papa Bob remembers his mother filling the house with homemade raviolis, that is, "until they started buying the raviolis from Rafetto's." Cousin Patricia Bernstein (see: [Research Correspondence>Patricia Bernstein]) remembers Raffetto's too. She was kind enough to pass on an article from one of her New York cookbooks.

Samantha, I know Raffetto's and this is from a New York Cook Book.

NEW YORK NOODLES

MRS. ROMANA RAFFETTO OF HOUSTON STREET

Life used to be simple at Raffetto's. In 1906, when the storefront opened on Houston Street in Manhattan, it offered handmade "ravioli Genoa style" (with meat and cheese) and "ravioli Naples style" (with cheese). Houston Street was called the Mason-Dixon line back then, the boundary between the southern Italians, who had fled poverty and packed the tenements of Mulberry Bend, and those from the north, who generally left Italy with more money and education than their southern cousins, and whose neat homes lined the crooked sidewalks of the West Village.

Neutral Territory

Perched between the two worlds, Raffetto's was like the country of Switzerland, selling ravioli by the pound. "My father-in-law had something for the Genovese and something for the Neapolitans, he didn't need anything else," said Romana Raffetto, who helps her husband, Gino, and their two sons, Andrew and Richard, run the store. "Then America discovered pasta and things got complicated," she said.

"They wanted ravioli with seafood, ravioli with wild mushrooms, ravioli with pesto, ravioli with pumpkin, ravioli with spinach and cheese, vegetable ravioli with no eggs or cheese." She looked at the assorted ravioli boxes stacked in the store's refrigerator and shook her head.

"Saffron pasta. Squid ink pasta. Black pepper pasta. Pasta with herbs. Pasta with chile peppers. Pasta with lemon," she recited, nodding to the sheets of fresh noodles that were folded and stacked as tenderly as fresh linen on the tables behind the store's front counter.

"Personally, I'm not for it," she said. But as she buttoned a white chef's jacket over her flowered house dress and headed toward the store's front counter, Mrs. Raffetto was EveryMother, patiently indulging a cultural adolescent phase.

The store, she figures, is a stabilizing influence in a pasta-crazed world. Bottles of olive oil stretch from gold to green along one wall and are flanked by jars of olives, bottled clams, sacks of polenta, and rice. There are cans of good Italian tomatoes and bottles of real Italian fruit syrups. There are chubby links of sausages, wheels of provolone and Parmesan, vats of ricotta. The same good, basic foods that have carried Raffetto's going onto 90 years.

The store was in the right place when it opened, but within two decades, well-heeled Italians moved on up, first to Italian Harlem, then to Arthur Avenue in the Bronx, then, and still, to Westchester and New Jersey, Bensonhurst and Long Island. By 1932 the Italian West Village had shrunk to a small patch of butchers along Bleecker Street, a handful of social clubs, latticini, and salumeria along both Sullivan and Bleecker Streets. "Little Italy" was already a tourist theme park of "red wine and plaster saints," wrote Helen Worden in The Real New York.

But something pulled people back.

ack to the ravioli store where their mothers hopped, back to double-parking in front of-affetto's. When pasta detonated in mainstream merica, the family that still lived above their tore on Houston Street was ready.

They had more than pasta. The Raffettos had een intimate with strangers in a strange land for ver five decades. As Americans sailed from the orld of meat and potatoes toward the shores of asta, the store was a local lodestar, its matriarch, e needle on the compass.

"In a way, nothing changes," said Mrs. Raf-etto. Her sons make about 5,000 pounds of pasta a week. Like their grandfather they are diplomats, although the Mason-Dixon line they straddle today lies between the trendy and the traditional.

"Each side affects the other. That's the nature of people living together," said Mrs. Raffetto, philosophically.

Occasionally, a strand of mod-pasta catches even her eye. "It's not that I don't like the flavor in the pasta," she said. Lowering her voice as if to whisper across the backyard fences that are no longer on these blocks, she did wonder, however, "If they have all that flavor in the pasta, what in the world do you think they put in their sauce?"

Legacy: General Stilton's Fly

Bob recalls the time he was posted at Fort Hayes in Columbus, Ohio:

You know when you're driving on 670 and you can see Fort Hayes? That's where I was stationed. That's where I met Don Boone.

I was stationed there as an Aide for General Aldony Stilton. He lived in Richmond Hill in New York and we got along famously.

Actually, being his aide, I had to take care of him. If he had any guests, like nurses or one thing or another, I had to make sure that they were taken care of and had everything they needed.

The General had a retirement party near Breckinnridge, Kentucky.

Another general came up to me and said "Do you know your general's fly is open?"

And I said, "No, Sir, but I will take care of that."

It was a big party and the general was in a dance circle and I kind of whispered in his ear, "Sir, I have to talk to you privately." He kind of looked at me and so he came with me and I told him to walk into that corner and face the corner. And I told him his fly was open.

And he said, "Who told you?"

And I said, "General Such-and-Such."

And he said, "Did he notice or did somebody else?"

And so I told him I'd find out.

And so I got a hold of the other general and I whispered in his ear, I said general, "My general wants to know who noticed that his fly was open."

He looked at me and he said, "Lieutenant I want you to go back and tell him: my wife."

So I went back and my general asked who noticed, and I told him.

He looked over at the other general and they were giggling away, and he shouted across the room, "You son of a bitch!"

Legacy: The War Cake

Every Christmas Betty Winchester, "Meema," prepares a War Cake for Papa Bob. Sometimes she will mail one to Bob's brother, Ronnie, in New York. Dropping by during the holidays usually means you are in for a treat. Papa Bob is always happy to share a slice of cake and a cup of coffee (Folger's, decaf, black) and tell the story of the Christmas War Cake his mother made for him to take back to college at the Missouri School of Mines.

Story

War Cake Story

Back in the early 50's, I was going to college in Missouri. So at Christmastime I would travel by car to New York City and back.

Well, this one morning while driving back with four other guys we reached Ohio, U S Route 40, around one or two AM and it was coooooold.

It was necessary that we stop for a break. Well we found this one restaurant that was open. All they had to offer was coffee – no donuts, pastry, cake etc.

Well one of the guys remembered that I had a War Cake in the car. Needless to say I was pressured into getting it. That was the end of the cake, even the owner of the shop enjoyed it with coffee. I cannot recall if the owner charged us for the coffee.

War Cake

2 cups water
1 pkg(s) 20 ozs. seedless raisins
3 tablespoons Crisco
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar plus
3/4 cup packed brown sugar

(over)

Put all in a pot and boil 5 minutes. Let stand overnight. Sift 3 cups flour with 2 teaspoons baking soda. Add to mixture; stir until well blended. Put in greased tube pan and bake at 350° (preheat oven) for 1 hour 15 minutes. Test with toothpick. Do not overbake.

Note: Florida - bake 50 minutes

On Parents

How would you compare your life to the lives of your parents?

1. A lot easier, since I didn't have to go through a depression with a family like my parents.
2. I will try to expand, but it's a tough question. I lived through a depression and WWII, which involved doing without some things (at times). No TV until I was in high school, then only black and white and not as many channels. No dishwasher, so I would hand wash the dishes.
3. I worked and paid for my college tuition. ROTC paid for some of the last two years.

Overall, no matter what I always try to enjoy where and what I was doing.

I've never felt that I was doing without what other people had or did.

On Children

How would you compare your life to the lives of your children?

They had it easier!

Also newphews C.A. Anderson II and Kyle Nickless, ands and uncles, Emma, Ruby, Garnet, Arthur, Henry Vernon, etc. Nephew Bill Anderson (Teresa).

Life story

Betty Winchester's self-reported family story.
Written in July 2020.

My mother was a housewife and head of the PTA in Tennessee, president of the Athens Chapter many years (with 6 children), also always helping the less fortunate mothers with children by getting them clothes, milk, diapers, etc. At home and through her good work with the Save the Children Federation and Church she helped many families. She also always had a big garden (vegetable) and grew prize dahlias and African violets. WE had a gal that lived with us and took care of the children. Her name was Nora and we loved her dearly. Mother (and Daddy) were in Eastern Star and the Masons, respectfully and were Grand Matron and Grand Patron at one time.

Daddy was an American Legion Commander, and alter was Brigadeer General in charge of the National Guard of Tennessee under Governor Gordon Browning. Daddy had a wholesale store of wholesale hosiery and notions. At first he had a truck and delivered sox, aspirin, hair nets, combs, mostly grosses of sox and hose. We helped at the store and packed lots of things (sox and hose) and other to mail. Later my brothers talked him into getting a tire business and he was good at selling many tires, successful. Daddy always wore a suit and tie, white shirt and cuff links. He would come home from work and remove his jacket, put on his smoking jacket (silk and beautiful) and smoke cigars or his pipe (he had several). He liked to fish and many times we went camping in the Smokies and he would cook the fish over the fire and Mother would make cornbread in the big black skillet. The rainbow trout was so good. We would go blackberry p icking and Mother would make pies when we got home. Children helped with everything.

We always had a wonderful Christmas—except when Carl Jr. was a prisoner of the Germans. We were glad to know—through the red cross—that our prayers were answered and he was alive.

Mother learned shorthand at secretarial school and was well-read. Daddy's father died when Daddy was 14 and he quit school and got a job to take care of his Mother and younger sister.

Mother's mother died when she was 3 years old. Her sister, Aunt Ruby, was 8 years old and took care of Mother. The woman their father married later was unkind to Mother and Aunt Ruby. She had 2 daughters and favored them very much. Mother's Father was a Baptist Minister and officiated at Mother and Daddy's wedding in Copperhill.

Back to Christmas—Children could not come downstairs on Christmas morning, but we could wait on the stairs till "Santa had left" and we would find gifts all over the living room. Mother sewed and made the girls coats or dresses and the boys shirts and all, plus toys. We could never have big bicycles—just sidewalk bikes because my oldest brother Car Jr. almost got killed on his bike on Main Street.

We had wonderful neighbors, and everybody knew everyone. At our house Monday was wash day, Tuesday was ironing (we ironed everything—khaki pants, men's undershirts, dish towels (made from flour sacks most of the time), Wednesday we made bread for the week (sourdough and delicious with pear preserves, blackberry jelly, and we could get a warm piece out of the oven). Thursday—sewing or canning; Friday—some cooking and planning for Sunday (We did not cook much on Sunday but had a big dinner—usually chicken and other (ham). We were at church most of the day (Southern Baptist members) unless it was a Sunday we went to Grandma's in Copperhill (often). Mother would always take coveralls or other for us because we played in the huge clay gullies Copperhill is known for (the smelt and gas from the mine destroyed all greenery and the gullies were 5-6 feet deep—lots of fun!). At home we had a cleaning lady—later a cook too—but each of us had to clean our own rooms on Saturday before we could go to the movies (usually a cowboy serial, like Roy Rogers or Hopalong Cassidy, or a science fiction scary film). On Sunday we went to Sunday School then church, then home for Sunday dinner, back to church for choir practice, then Training Union (more Bible Study and fun classes for kids), then Sunday night church (sermon and all). Sunday night supper was always oyster stew and crackers.

Anyway, we were always busy. We helped with the garden and pear picking, pecan picking (gathering), and getting black walnuts hulled and ready for a cake. I forgot Wednesday night was Prayer Meeting at church. We also helped with Spring

Cleaning for one or two weeks, however fast we worked. When we were older we could help with chandelier cleaning and window trim painting, stretching lace curtains on frames to dry, rubbing the wallpaper with something like play-doh wallpaper cleaner. The big blobs (as big as an orange or bigger) of pink stuff would be black when we finished with one because we had a coal furnace. Everything was shining clean when we finished.

We also had a big fish pond in the front yard, 9 magnolia trees and a holly tree---tall as the house (2 story), pecan tree and maples. The fish pond held mollies (black fish, 10 inches long) and goldfish (8-9 inches long), and pink fish (8-9 inches long). We cleaned the fish pond once a year. It had lilies in it in big wash tubs under the water. Daddy and Mother came to football games—we were in the band (George & I), and to plays at the High School—I was in a few but preferred to prompt.

Legacy: The falling brick

Bob Winchester remembers—

My father as I indicate was in construction. He started out as a bricklayer then became a foreman. He tells the story about the time he was working about three stories up and a brick fell off of a board and hit something so that it flew across the street and crashed into a store window.

The owner of the store could not figure out how it happened, but since there was a pile of bricks on the street, he must have thought that some kid must have done it.

"I remember her laugh. She was funny. One time she came from New York to visit us in Norwalk, Ohio, and in Norwalk we had a walk signal. As in, the traffic light said WALK and all the cars would stop and you would walk. When the light turned green, Grandma started to walk so we started shouting NO NO NO! When the walk light came on, she died laughing. It was a small town. She said, 'you have the light, but you don't have the traffic!'" -Ja'Nel Winchester Siefert, granddaughter

Legacy: The Shadow Knows

♫ Click to listen to an episode of The Shadow: "Death is a colored dream"

Bob Winchester remembers--

My mother, during the depression, worked several part-time jobs. One job was for the Blue Coal Company. Well she came home one day with several tickets to a radio program called "The Shadow Knows." We went to the show. The actor played two parts, one of which was "the shadow." To disguise his voice, he would go into a small room to change his voice.

According to Wikipedia, The Shadow is the name of a collection of serialized dramas, originally in 1930s pulp novels, and then in a wide variety of media. Its title character has been featured on the radio, in a long-running pulp magazine series, in American comic books, comic strips, television, serials, video games, and at least five feature films. The radio drama included episodes voiced by Orson Welles.

Following a brief tenure as narrator of Street & Smith's Detective Story Hour, "The Shadow" character was used to host segments of The Blue Coal Radio Revue, airing on Sundays at 5:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. This marked the beginning of a long association between the radio persona and sponsor Blue Coal.

Legacy: Chicken Cutlets

"You need to know your butcher. If you want those cutlets right, you better have a good butcher. Get them very thin. No sinew." –Ja'Nel Siefert remembers her grandmother Annette's advice

Ja'Nel remembers-

I will never forget when she got stopped at the airport because she had that meat cleaver in her suitcase. They must have had metal detectors, even back then.

She kept the key in her bra! They asked for the key to the suitcase, and she said, "It's not in a very good place." And she started reaching around in her blouse.

That was back when we [Ja'Nel and Tod] were living on Glenn Avenue. She came to teach me how to make chicken cutlets, you know like the ones I make you now.

She liked the little tidbits, the little pieces; she would fry them and eat them. She used to use butter, but then she switched to butter CRISCO.

Gosh, she was sixty then and that felt old. Now, here I am!

HARRY - ANNETTE

III BERTOLI

The Bertoli family comes from the city of Camogli, a fishing village and tourist resort located on the west side of the peninsula of Portofino, on the Golfo Paradiso in the Riviera di Levante, in the Metropolitan City of Genoa, Liguria, northern Italy.

From Wikipedia:

The name of the town is of ancient, though disputed origin.

One story suggests it comes from the shortened Casa de Moglie. When the ship captains sailed, they put their wives (mogli) in a sort of home for all of them (casa), and the town was well known for this. Hence being known as Camogli

In the late Middle Ages Camogli was a considerable seaport. In its heyday, its fleet consisted of hundreds of Tall Ships, and it was called the "city of a thousand white sails". In 1798 the city hosted a large contingent of Napoleon's fleet, which was then beaten in the Egyptian waters of the Nile by Admiral Nelson. The prestigious naval college "Cristoforo Colombo" was founded in Camogli in 1874, named after the Genoese navigator Christopher Columbus.

In 1880 the former fishing village had, in a population of 12,000, 500 registered as ship captains. Camogli now lives mainly from tourism and is known for its colorful houses that line the beach. The house colors once helped the fishermen of Camogli find the way back to their port.

English Translation

The year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, on the fifth of October, at two o'clock and thirty minutes in the afternoon, in the Municipal House.

Before me, Galleani Cavaliere Domenico, Secretary Delegate with Mayoral Certificate, on 11 January 1880, sworn Official of the Civil Registry of the City of Camogli, appeared Bertoli Bartolo, son of Antonio, forty-eight years old, a bricklayer, domiciled in Camogli, who told me that at six o'clock and thirty minutes post meridian of the second day of the present month in the house located on Via Migliaro number three, to Bettini Antonia, daughter of Giuseppe, a housewife, who lives with him and resides in this city, was born a male child which he presented to me, and to whom he gives the name Emanuele.

Present as witnesses to the above and to this certificate were Ferrari Giuseppe son of Emanuele, a twenty-four-year-old nautical student, and Repetto Agostino son of Gio Batta, a thirty-six-year-old custodian at the nautical institute, both residents of this Comune.

Having read this document to all those present, they sign below.

Legacy: The Gambling Room

Both Bob and Ronnie Winchester remember that Emanuele ("Emmanuel") worked a lot of odd jobs. He worked as a laborer, and according to family history he worked on the construction of the Holland and Lincoln tunnels.

He is also remembered as "a bit of a gambler."

For a while, Anita and Emanuele ran a restaurant on King Street.

Bob remembers-

In the back they had a gambling room. And every now and then they would get a phone call and they'd say "tonight's the night." They would put the money in the drawers but leave a little bit on the table. They knew they were going to lose it and they accepted it. And the police knew what they were doing because sometimes they were in there playing. The police would come knocking on the door, and they'd fine them a little bit, and then they were back in business.

After they made the raid, all the neighbors were happy, and the police were happy—they knew what they were doing—and that kept the people happy with the police, and the poker players happy with the police, and everyone else too. Everyone was happy.

PHYSICIAN'S SUPPLEMENTARY CERTIFICATE OF DEATH BY NATURAL CAUSES

Required in connection with Telephone Application for Removal Permit.

CAUTION TO PHYSICIANS: BEFORE SIGNING, READ THIS ENTIRE STATEMENT CAREFULLY.

I hereby certify that the death of ANITA BERTOLI (Print Name of Decedent) who died on JANUARY 19th 1945 (Date of Death), at Jamaica Hospital (Place of Death) was not * CAUSED DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, BY ACCIDENT OF ANY KIND, BY ACUTE OR CHRONIC POISONING, BY SUICIDE, BY CRIMINAL VIOLENCE, OR IN ANY SUSPICIOUS OR UNUSUAL MANNER.

I further certify that in my opinion the cause of death of this person was not * one that should be reported to the Medical Examiner.

Date January 19th 1945 (Personal Signature of Physician)

* The physician will personally complete this certification by inserting the words "was not" in each of these spaces.

IMPORTANT NOTE TO PHYSICIAN

Section 878-1.0 of the Administrative Code for the City of New York provides that the death of any person from criminal violence, by a casualty, by suicide, suddenly while in apparent health, when unattended by a physician, or in any suspicious or unusual manner, shall be reported forthwith to the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner. Only the Medical Examiner may issue a death certificate in such cases.

FAILURE TO REPORT TO THE MEDICAL EXAMINER IS A MISDEMEANOR.

TO FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Regulation 3, Section 46 of the Sanitary Code, provides that—"No permit to remove, ship, cremate or bury the remains . . . will be issued unless the funeral director applying for such permit shall sign his name . . . and shall certify in writing that he has been employed by the nearest surviving relative or next of kin."

Removal of bodies prohibited without permit. The regulations of the Board of Health prohibit the removal of the body of a human being, who died in the City of New York, unless a permit therefor has been obtained from the Department of Health, except when such removal is ordered in connection with an investigation conducted by the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner, a District Attorney or the Police Department.

Permission to remove dead bodies granted by telephone. In keeping with these regulations, the Department of Health will grant to Funeral Directors by telephone, permission for the removal of a body to a home or funeral chapel in the city, provided the application is made by a licensed Funeral Director who has the certificate of death in his possession at the time of telephoning. Such permission may be granted by the burial permit clerk in Manhattan when the office in the borough in which the death occurred, is closed. Removal of a body before obtaining permission may be penalized by suspension of telephone removal privilege, by court action, or by revocation of business permit. If the above Physician's Supplementary Certificate of Death by Natural Causes has been completed, it is NOT necessary for the Funeral Director to obtain a separate supplementary certification—Form 113-H.

IV DE VINCENZO

In living memory, the DeVincenzo family story begins in New York City, where John DeVincenzo, then known as Giovanni, arrived by boat from Italy in approximately 1883. Family sources claim that John sailed on the SS Burgundia, but I have been unable to find records of his passage. His wife, Jennie Beronio, was said to have arrived on the same boat.

The De Vincenzos hailed from northern Italy, not too far from the Bertoli family. Jennie is well-documented to have come from the town of Arzeno, where distant cousins appear to live in the present day. While I originally thought that John may have been born in the same town, he appears to have been born in the neighboring village of Costela.

John and Jennie were married on December 27, 1887, at Our Lady of Pompei church in Manhattan.

From Wikipedia, the parish of Our Lady of Pompeii was founded in 1892. The origins of the parish lie in the arrival of Father Pietro Bandini, an Italian Jesuit priest, in New York City in 1890. His purpose was to establish a chapter of the Saint Raphael Society for the Protection of Italian Immigrants, an organization that sought to defend Italian immigrants from usury and labor exploitation. Bandini purchased a building at 113 Waverly Place to use its first-floor storefront as a chapel for the Society. He named it the Our Lady of Pompeii chapel, in honor of the Virgin Mary under her title of Our Lady of the Rosary of Pompeii. The first mass was said in the chapel on May 8, 1892. In addition to his spiritual ministry, Bandini assisted new immigrants with legal matters, assimilating to the United States, and finding work.

Family rumor purported that John and Jennie had thirteen children together, but census data only confirms ten children.

When John died in 1932, the family fractured, reputedly having “fought over the mattress that he [John] died on.” While growing up Harry, Robert, and Ronald had some contact with their aunts, uncles, and cousins. Presently we have mostly lost touch with those now distant branches of the family.

De Vincenzo or De Vincenzi?

Spelling inconsistencies abound in most genealogical research, but the case of De Vincenzo versus De Vincenzi caught my interest because both names appear to have been used within the family itself, as evidenced by the family tombstones. Jennie Beronio De Vincenzo is buried in a tombstone inscribed with that spelling, however her husband John's tombstone reads "John Di Vincenzi." Since the names for tombstones would have been provided by family members, rather than written in error by census pollers or government officials, I wondered about the origins of spelling.

Presumably the name itself is patronymic and originates with a male ancestor named Vincenzo, all variations of the name being intended to indicate that the subsequent ancestor belonged to Vincenzo's family.
The differentiation in spelling, it seems, is a problem of translation (my favorite kind!), not from Italian into English, but between Italian and Latin.

When Italian surnames were first written in parish records, they were "translated" from Latin into Italian using different rules. In southern Italy they took the "ablative" form of the Latin name, usually ending with -o. In northern Italy they used the "genitive" form, typically ending -i.

The Latin ablative case expresses separation, indirection, or the means by which an action is performed. In English, the prepositions by, with, and from most commonly denote this case.

The Latin genitive case expresses possession, measurement, or source. In English, the preposition of is used to denote this case.

The following pages contain a heatmap of present-day Italian spelling occurrences for both De Vincenzo and De Vincenzi from https://www.mappadeicognomi.it/. The De Vincenzi variant has a considerable cluster in the Genoa region, while the De Vincenzo variation appears to be generally less common, with a small cluster in the Naples area.

Birth Certificate

John's birthplace has been a tricky point of research, but based on archival research and DNA testing through ancestry we believe he was from the town of San Vincenzo di Costela in the Comune di Varese Ligure. This location is about 20km east of Arzeno, where his wife Jennie was born. The birth year provided on the certificate of baptism is 1858, which is plausible given the range of birth dates from 1860-1865 given on his other paperwork.

Buongiorno; facendo seguito alla Sua richiesta del 01 novembre u.s. si fa presente che i registri di stato civile hanno inizio dal 1866, e pertanto è impossibile la ricerca dell'atto di nascita di Giovanni Di Vincenzo;
Inoltre, si comunica che dalla consultazione dei registri di nascita del 1869 NON RISULTA alcun atto a nome di ANGELA BERONIO.

Cordiali saluti

Dear Miss Siefert:

Your index search request was received in this office on October 13, 2019, regarding John Michael Devincenzo born on September 1, 1862 in Italy. We completed a thorough search for records based on the information you provided. Unfortunately we found no matching index reference. Our search included all variations of the subject's name, including Michael De Vincenzo, John Vincenzo, John De Vincenzo, John Venzenzo, John Winchester, Giovanni Di Vincenzo, John Devincenzi with the same results.

Naturalization activity prior to September 27, 1906, was under the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts. Naturalization records may be found in Federal, State, or local court records. Practice and procedure varied greatly over time and geographical location, and as a result the best information on how to find pre-1906 naturalization records is usually available from local sources. For more information on State and local courts, contact the State or county historical or genealogical society in the location where you believe the immigrant naturalized. For Federal court records, contact the National Archives or see their webpage at http://www.archives.gov/genealogy/naturalization/. We do apologize that we could not be of further assistance to you.

The USCIS Genealogy Program does not provide certified copies of records. All requests for certification of non-existence of a naturalization record dated after September 27, 1906 must be submitted to the following address. Please submit a request containing the name of individual and supplemental information (i.e. Date of Birth, Place of Birth):

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services
ATTN: Records Operations Branch
1200 First Street NE
Washington, DC 20529-2204

While you are always free to request another search for this immigrant, for an additional fee, without new information one could not expect any different result. If you can provide new or different information about this immigrant and want to pursue another search, please submit a new search request for an additional fee of $65. The requirements for filing are available at our website, www.uscis.gov.

If you should have any additional questions about your request from USCIS, please direct your inquiries to this office at the above address or send them to Genealogy.USCIS@dhs.gov. Always note your case identification number on the correspondence.

There is no record of his naturalization in any of the courts under our jurisdiction in Manhattan. When did he become a citizen according to the census records?

Hello Joseph,

Thank you very much for contacting me!

I have attached all of the information I was able to find regarding my great-great grandfather John Devincenzo. To my knowledge, he was never naturalized.

I was hoping that the New York courts would be able to either confirm or deny his naturalization status according to their records. If no records are found, would it be possible to issue a letter? The address is

RE: Request for "No record certificate"

Dear Joseph:

Per our conversation by email, I am writing to request a certificate of non-existence for naturalization documentation pertaining to my great-great-grandfather, John DeVincenzo, who resided in lower Manhattan between 1880 and 1840. I have enclosed a money order for $10.00.

Thank you very much for your time and help in this matter.

Sincerely,

Samantha Siefert

TO PHYSICIANS

1. The attending physician must furnish a certificate to the Department of Health within 36 hours after death, and where death has resulted from infectious or contagious disease a certificate must be furnished by him forthwith (Sanitary Code, Sections 33 and 90).

2. All physicians practicing in The City of New York (including those in public institutions) must be registered in the Bureau of Records (Sanitary Code, Section 218).

3. If a person dies from criminal violence or by a casualty or by suicide, or suddenly while in apparent health, or when unattended by a physician or in prison, or in any suspicious or unusual manner, it shall be the duty of any citizen who may become aware of the death of any such person to report such death forthwith to the office of the chief medical examiner, and to a police officer who shall forthwith notify the officer in charge of the station house in the police precinct in which such person died. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to report such death or who without written order from a medical examiner shall wilfully touch, remove or disturb the body of any such person, or wilfully touch, remove, or disturb the clothing, or any article upon or near such body, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Inserted by Laws 1915, Chapter 284, Section 2. In effect January 1, 1918.)

4. Certificates will be returned for additional information which give any of the following diseases, without explanation, as the sole cause of death:

Abortion,	Hemorrhage,	Meningitis,	Phlebitis,
Cellulitis,	Gangrene,	Metritis,	Pyaemia,
Childbirth,	Gastritis,	Miscarriage,	Septicaemia,
Convulsions,	Erysipelas,	Peritonitis,	Tetanus.

(Any one of these may be the result of an injury, and thus be a subject for investigation by a Medical Examiner. If it is not, the certificate should make that fact plain.)

5. No certificate giving "Heart failure," "Dropsy," or other mere symptom as the sole cause of death will be accepted, unless accompanied by a satisfactory written explanation.

6. Statement of Occupation.—Precise statement of occupation is very important, so that the relative healthfulness of various pursuits can be known. The question applies to each and every person, irrespective of age. For many occupations a single word or term on the first line will be sufficient, e.g., Farmer or Planter, Physician, Compositor, Architect, Locomotive Engineer, Civil Engineer, Stationary Fireman, etc. But in many cases, especially in industrial employments, it is necessary to know (a) the kind of work and also (b) the nature of the business or industry, and therefore an additional line is provided for the latter statement; it should be used only when needed. As examples: (a) Spinner, (b) Cotton Mill; (a) Salesman, (b) Grocery; (a) Foreman, (b) Automobile Factory.

TO UNDERTAKERS

1. No burial permit can be obtained without a proper certificate.
2. Certificates must be written throughout in black ink.
3. No certificate will be accepted which is mutilated, illegible, inaccurate, or any portion of which has been erased, interlined, corrected or altered, as all such changes impair its value as a public record.

I hereby certify that I have been employed, without any solicitation on my part or that of any other person, as undertaker by Mary Cuney

Maria DeVincenzo

Buried with Jennie is another DeVincenzo ancestor of mysterious origin. The name on her tombstone is Maria DeVincenzo, but the name on her death record reads Mary DeVincenzi, echoing similar family discrepancies in spelling. Based on her age and the names of her parents, my best guess is that she was an aunt or cousin of John DeVincenzo, but perhaps she was a distant relative of Jennie DeVincenzo like our cousin Maria DeVincenzi in Arzeno, who has either no or a very distant relationship to the John in our line. She arrived in the USA only three years before her death and died in the family home on Prince Street.

Notes:
The De Vincenzo family would have first appeared on the 1890 census; however, those records were tragically damaged in a fire (and the Hoover administration deemed it too costly to preserve the remains).
It seems that the records for the 1925 New York State census would also show the De Vincenzo family, however I have been unable to locate those records.

At this time, I have no explanation for why John De Vincenzo Sr., listed as John Winchester, is residing at a different address than his wife Jennie in the 1930 census. I presume that Jennie chose to live with her daughter and son-in-law so that they might care for her in old age.

Also unusual is that the couple was not buried together. Even the spelling of the last name differs slightly on the tombstones. Jennie is buried under the name, "Jennie De Vincenzo" with her children who died prematurely and a relative of John's named Maria. John is buried under the name "John Di Vincenzi" with their daughter Helen and her husband. Presumably cemetery plots were purchased as needed and filled as necessary.

Charles Macchio is listed as residing with the De Vincenzo family on the 1900 census. Charles was the son of Jennie's sister Maddalena Beronio and her husband Dionisio Macchio. Dionisio Macchio was born in 1857 in Chiavari, Italy, about 20 kilometers from where the Beronio family originated in Arzeno, Italy. Another Macchio, Mario Macchio (1870-1899), is buried in the same plot as Jennie De Vincenzo in Calvary Cemetery.

1930 Federal: Thompson St.

Only John De Vincenzo Sr. appears here, listed as John Winchester. Sons Charles and Harry made the name change official in 1942. I have no evidence to indicate whether John Sr. made the change officially or simply switched usage unofficially to conform with the family.

John served in WWI and was part of the Lost Batallion: the name given to the nine companies of the 77th Division, roughly 554 men, isolated by German forces during World War I after an American attack in the Argonne Forest in October 1918. Roughly 197 were killed in action and approximately 150 missing or taken prisoner before the 194 remaining men were rescued.

V BERONIO

Jennie DeVincenzo was born Aurelia Angela Beronio in the small mountain village of Arzeno.

Arzeno is located in the commune of Ne in the Metropolitan City of Genoa in the Italian region Liguria, located in the Val Graveglia about 40 kilometres (25 mi) east of Genoa. It is formed by several distinct burghs, or frazioni.

Ne stands for Nae, meaning "ship", and refers to the shape of Monte Zatta, the highest mountain of the area at an elevation of 1,404 metres (4,606 ft). It adjoins the valley of Graveglia, the ancient realm of Garibald, the king of the Lombards who fled from Lombardy in 673.[4]

The family of the founder of the modern, united Italian state, Giuseppe Garibaldi, originated in the nearby valley of Graveglia. A monument to Garibaldi is located in Conscenti, one of Ne's 16 frazione, or hamlets,[4] and the comune's seat of government. Most of these frazione originated as castles built during and after the tenth century as defenses against Saracen raids.

Stato	Italia
Regione	Liguria
Località	Arzeno (Ne)
Religione	Cristiana cattolica di rito romano
Titolare	San Lorenzo
Diocesi	Chiavari
Consacrazione	1765
Inizio costruzione	documentata a partire dal 1252

The Parrocchia San Lorenzo in Arzeno dates to 1252. From 1519 it passed under the diocese of Brugnato and from 1594 to 1657 it was joined by the parish church of Sant'Apollinare in Reppia. The building was solemnly consecrated on June 20, 1765 by Monsignor Domenico Tatis. It passed under the diocese of Chiavari in 1959.

Of the medieval building, the base of the exposed stone bell tower remains in Romanesque style. The façade dates to the nineteenth century. The interior consists of a single nave with four side chapels and a hexagonal choir that was added at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and underwent various interventions from the mid-seventeenth century to the early twentieth century. On the vault of the presbytery is a fresco by the Genoese painter Raffaello Resio depicting the Glory of San Lorenzo painted in 1900.

Letter to the Church

English

Greetings,

I am writing because my great-great grandmother Angela Beronio De Vincenzo was a member of this church. I am interested in learning anything I can about my great-great-grandmother, and I would appreciate any help or instructions to search the church records.

I believe Angela Beronio was born in Arzeno. Her parents were Antonio Beronio and Caterina Catonia Finocchietto. I believe she had three sisters: Maddalena, Maria, and Paola. Angela moved to New York City in 1885, and in 1887 she married Giovanni De Vincenzo. She died in 1932.

I believe that Giovanni De Vincenzo may have also been from Arzeno. If there is anything in your records about him, I would love to know! I believe that he was born in September of 1862, and his parents were Giovanni De Vincenzo and Angela Marguerita Perrino.

I am including some documents and notes to help explain better, and I will include this letter in both English and Italian. I apologize for my poor Italian. I studied only a little in school, many years ago! I have also included a donation for the church.

Please write to me, by email or by post, with any news. I appreciate your help and your correspondence

Warmest regards,
Samantha Siefert

Buon giorno:

Sto scrivendo perché la mia trisavola Angela Beronio De Vincenzo era un membro di questa chiesa. Sono interessato a imparare tutto quello che posso sulla mia trisavola. Apprezzerei qualsiasi aiuto o istruzione per cercare nei registri della chiesa.

Credo che Angela Beronio e nata in Arzeno. I suoi genitori erano Antonio Beronio e Caterina Catonia Finocchietto. Credo che avesse tre sorelle: Maddalena, Maria e Paola. Angela si trasferì a New York City nel 1885 e nel 1887 sposò Giovanni De Vincenzo. E morto nel 1932.

Credo che anche Giovanni De Vincenzo fosse di Arzeno. Se c'è qualcosa nei tuoi recordi su di lui, mi piacerebbe saperlo! Credo che e nato nel settembre del 1862 e che i suoi genitori fossero Giovanni De Vincenzo e Angela Marguerita Perrino.

Includo alcuni documenti e note per aiutare a spiegare meglio, e includo una copia di questa lettera in inglese. Mi scuso per il mio italiano. Ho studiato solo un po nella scuola, fa moltia annni! Incluso anche una donazione per la chiesa.

Per favore scrivimi, via e-mail o per posta, con qualsiasi novità. Apprezzo il tuo aiuto e la tua corrispondenza.

Cordiali saluti,
Samantha

Gentile Signora Siefert,

Rispondo alla sua lettera del 14 novembre doppo avereffettuato ricerche nell'archivo parrochiale di Arzeno.

Ho trovato l'atto di battesimo della sua bisnonna, Angela Beronio. In esso risulta che venne battezzata con i nomi di Aurelia Angela e che nacque nel 1867 e non nel 1869. Le trascrivo il riassunto:

Beronio Aurelia Angela, figlia di Antonio, figlio di Giovanni, e di Angela Finocchietti, figlia di Giuseppe, nata il 3 aprile 1867 alle ore 3 del mattino, venne battezzata il 7 aprile del parroco Agostino Traversaro. Padrini furono Eugenio Beronio figlio di Antonio, resident in Arzeno e Maria Noceti figli di Giovanni, della parrocchia di San Pietro di Zerli.

Dai registri di Battesimi risulta che la sua bisnonna aveva quattro fratelli e sorelle:

Maddalena, nata l'8 marzo 1862

Paola, nata il 15 aprile 1864, sposata con Pessagno Davide, mori il 9 novembre 1914

Maria, nata il 28 maggio 1870

Luigi, nato il 23 giugno 1872, sposato con Pessagno Aurelia, morto il 20 febbraio 1932

Per cio che riguarda il suo trisnonno Giovanni Divincenzo, le devo dire che dal cognome si vede che non e nato ad Arzeno. Non va confuso con il cognome De Vincenzi che e presente in altre zone dell'entroterra vicine a noi, ma non nella nostra parrocchia. Divincenzo e probabilmente un cognome del sud Italia, come quello della moglie (Perrino). Quindi non puo esserci parentela con la famiglia De Vincenzi di cui mi parli, tramite il suo trisnonno.

Cosi come non c'e parentela con la famiglia Beronio di cui mi ha mandato l'albero genealogico. Un tempo ad Arzeno c'erano diverse famiglie con questo cognome, ma ormai piu nessun discendente reside in paese, ma i pochi rimasti si sono trasferiti nelle citta vicine.

Questo e tutto quello che posso dirle consultando l'archivo parrochiale. La ringrazio per l'offerta di 20€ inviata alla Parrocchia e porgo cordiali saluti.

English translation

Dear Ms. Siefert,

I reply to his letter of 14 November after having carried out research in the parish archives of Arzeno.

I found the baptismal note of your great-grandmother, Angela Beronio. In it it appears that she was baptized with the names of Aurelia Angela and was born in 1867 and not in 1869. I transcribe the summary:

Beronio Aurelia Angela, daughter of Antonio, son of Giovanni, and Angela Finocchietti, daughter of Giuseppe, born on April 3, 1867 at 3 am, was baptized on April 7 by the parish priest Agostino Traversaro. Godparents were Eugenio Beronio son of Antonio, resident in Arzeno, and Maria Noceti son of Giovanni, from the parish of San Pietro di Zerli.

From the records of Baptisms it appears that your great-grandmother had four brothers and sisters:

Maddalena, born on March 8, 1862

Paola, born April 15, 1864, married to Pessagno Davide, died November 9, 1914

Maria, born May 28, 1870

Luigi, born on June 23, 1872, married to Pessagno Aurelia, died on February 20, 1932

As for your great-grandfather Giovanni Divincenzo, I must tell you that from the surname it is clear that he was not born in Arzeno. It should not be confused with the surname De Vincenzi, which is present in other inland areas close to us, but not in our parish. Divincenzo is probably a surname from southern Italy, like that of his wife (Perrino). So there can be no kinship with the De Vincenzi family you tell me about, through your great-grandfather.

Just as there is no kinship with the Beronio family whose genealogical tree you sent me. Once upon a time in Arzeno there were several families with this surname, but now no more descendants reside in the village, the few remaining have moved to nearby cities.

This is all I can tell you by consulting the parish archives. Thank you for the 20€ offer sent to the Parish and best regards.

VI MACCHIO

Much of the research in this book would not be possible if it were not for the prior efforts of our distant cousins, the Macchios.

The Macchios come from the city of Chiavari, Italy. Chiavari is located on the coast of the Riviera, at the mouth of the river Entella. The location is about 20km south of Camogli, home of the Bertoli family, and 20km west of Arzeno, home of the Beronio family.

Jennie Beronio DeVincenzo had three sisters and one brother: Maddalena, Maria, Paola, and Luigi.

Maddalena married Dionisio Macchio, and when she died Dionisio remarried her younger sister, Maria.

Paola came to the United States but was never married and returned to Italy. In Italy she married Davide Pessagno. Some of their children spent time in the United States, including Hortensia Coruzzi (see: Research Correspondence>Penny Coruzzi)who appears in the correspondence below. Maria Paganini De Vincenzo is a cousin of Hortensia's who was living in the family home in Arzeno in 2005 (see: Research Correspondence>Ann Hill and Maria Paganini DeVincenzo).

Dionisio Macchio

Overview

Dionisio Macchio was born in 1857 in Chiavari, Genova, Italy, to Maria Rabissona Rebuzzini Rebussone, age 17, and Giovanni Macchio, age 19. He married Maddelena Madelina Beronio and they had nine children together. He then married Marie Beronia and they had five children together.

Dionisio became a citizen at the Superior Court, New York County, on Oct. 22, 1888. He was living at 163 Prince St. at the time and gave his occupation as laborer. Witness to his naturalization was: Guiseppe De Barbieri, occupation moulder, who lived at 126 Thompson St.

Dionisio Macchio died on Oct. 13, 1898 at the age of 41 (Manhattan death cert. no 29208). According to the family, Dionisio died in a Brooklyn Bridge construction accident and was buried in cement. That bridge was dedicated on May 24, 1883 at 2 p.m., 15 years before the recorded death of Dionisio Macchio. Of course, if our Dionisio is buried in the bridge, then there will be no grave location. Dionisio Macchio's death record says that he is buried in Calvary Cemetery in Queens. By 1900, it appears that our Dionisio's second wife had also died, and two of the children are in an orphanage.

2. Charlie, married Rose (Nellie) Monteverde (NY Cert# 7615, Our Lady of Pompeii) – 3 sons, 1 daughter
    a. Evelyn, married Tom Carney, two daughters
        i. "Evelyn (Macchio) Carney was married to her first husband, Harry Grob before meeting her second husband Tom Carney. Harry Grob was involved in a tragic auto accident shortly after he and Evelyn were married. He died as a result of his injuries from the auto accident. I don't think this marriage had the approval of her father, Charles. After Harry died, Evelyn lived by herself in an apartment in Richmond Hill, NY. Evelyn later married Tom Carney, a NYC policeman. He also had been widowed and I remember he had two daughters from his first marriage; where they are today I do not know. Evelyn and Tom had two daughters during their marriage: Maureen and Evelyn. I haven't been in touch with them for many years and have no idea of their whereabouts. Both of them were married to career men in the navy. I'm sure they must be retired by now. At one time Maureen and her family lived in Annapolis, MD."
    b. Dennis, married Louise Yoakum (two daughters)
        i. Dennis changed name in Civilian Conservation Corps to Marchio and married Louise Yoakum on March 14, 1935 in Tennessee. They had:
            1. Nell Marchio, born Jan. 3, 1936, in Lone Mountain TN; married Jack Quesenbery of Straight Creek TN, had son Jackie born Feb. 3, 1955, died July 12?, 1985. Nell thinks she was baptized at St. Jerome Church in Richmond Hill. Aunt Evelyn was her godmother, Charles Macchio her godfather. Nell's baptismal name was Evelyn.
            2. Ann Marchio, born May 16, 1947, Deaconess Hospital on Jefferson Ave. in Detroit. For many years, the Marchios lived at 20191 Anglin St. in Detroit, near 8 Mile between Woodward and Ryan Road. Ann Married Joseph Benson Hill of Pensacola FL Feb. 1, 1975 in Cleveland, divorced July 1990 in South Alabama. They had
                a. Teresa Marie Hill (born Kaiser Hospital Cleveland OH on April 10, 1976, mother of Mikela Ashlee Hill, born Baptist Hospital, Sept. 24, 1996 in New Orleans LA and
                b. Aaron Joseph Hill ,born in Cleveland OH Oct. 3, 1977, married Valerie Hutto on Nov. 10, 2007.
    c. Charles Jr., died in World War II of yellow fever

i. born 1920 and was listed as 5 mos. old in 1920 census. Charles was engaged at the time he died of a tropical disease in the jungle near New Zealand in the Marshall Islands during World War II. He is buried at Pinelawn military cemetery in Lindenhurst, Long Island.

d. Edward, died age 14 – rheumatic fever

i. Eddie, born 1915 (according to 1920 census), died at young age of leukemia. It was wintertime and my father, Dennis, remembers taking him outside to play. Eddie got sick soon after that and died. Buried in Section 4 of St. John's Cemetery, closest to Metropolitan Avenue entrance. He lies below his parents in this 3-deep grave site. From James Mason 9/21/04:

"I don't really know much about Edward except that he was very athletic in sports. I think his specialty in sports was pole vaulting. He is buried in St. John's cemetery (section 4) with his parents Charles and Nellie."

From Pat's note to Anne:

My grandfather was Joseph Francis Corsiglia. His parents were Francis Corsiglia and Marie Macchio. Marie was the daughter of Madelena Beronia Macchio and Dionisio Macchio. Dionisio and Madelena had four children, Marie, John and Charles. An infant named Anne died early in life. Madelena died and Dionisio remarried her sister Marie. They had 3 more Children, Stephen, George and Frederick. We are attempting to track them down.

Monteverde Family

LEGACY OF UNCLE ABE MONTEVERDE
By Nell Quesenbery

Dad's uncle, Abraham L. Monteverde, won a walking race from New York City to San Francisco. Uncle Abe was 60 years old when he won this race, which took 79 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes. His transcontinental walk held the world's record for over 40 years.

In the '60s, a woman doctor from Russia challenged Uncle Abe's record and failed. A few years later, two Englishmen, each years younger than Uncle Abe was at the time of the race, finally broke his record.

The following narrative was sent to Dad's mother, Nellie R. Macchio, by her older brother, Abraham L. Monteverde:

My biography of the walk across the United States and my life is now reduced to a single copy. This I must hold. I had 450 copies made, and they are in all quarters of the globe.

On St. Patrick's Day (in New York City), Dad used to parade and wind up drunk. You may not know his mother died in Belfast, Ireland. She had a Ship's Chandler's Place.

She died at 103 years of age. Dad was the only heir. Because of his going to Canada with a lot of Fenians, he was ruled out. (Note: Fenians were an Irish association whose aim was the independence of Ireland from Great Britain. In order to escape being sent to Australia, to prison, or being put to death, many Fenians changed their names and fled to Canada.)

When our parents married (in New York City), they gave the same name (Monteverde was Abe's mother's maiden name). The amount of research I have made find there were our Monteverdes in Columbus' crew.

Mom's two brothers, Peter and Louis Monteverde, were millionaires in Pittsburgh, Pa. Mom gave them $75.00 to try their luck there. They were carpenters and found work in the shipyards on the Ohio River. On Sundays, they peddled oranges at the ballpark. Gradually, they went in the candy business. They took a trip to Europe and in Paris found out how to manufacture ice cream. This started them on their fortune. Their first place was at 75 Frankstown Ave., Pittsburgh. Now they own many homes and business places at Schenly Park, the Madison Avenue of Pittsburgh. During World War I, a son, Anthony L. Monteverde, was killed and the New York papers thought it was me. I have the clippings in one of my yearly books.

When at the head of West Side A.C., I knew Governor Smith. I sold papers with him on opposite corners of Mercer and Broome Streets. I have made contacts with many great men, Farley, Jimmie Walker, Teddy Roosevelt.

Teddy Roosevelt was then police commissioner. At this time, I received my master's degree as a mason. Teddy Roosevelt dealt the rite making me one.

Winning top honors at the Military League Championships in the 12th Regiment, I was champion shot, coach of wall-scaling, tug-of-war teams and field coach.

While binding books in some 200 banks and city and county offices, I've done business with J.D. Rockefeller, J.P. Morgan, Stillman, Chase National Bank - these are some of the big ones.

Franklin D. Roosevelt used to sit at my worktable for hours while he searched records in Putnam County. He was intern for Morechuaser and Mack, attorneys in Poughkeepsie. After he graduated from Harvard, he was forced to be an intern for two years before being made a member of the bar.

Hello Ann,

If I'm reading the family trees correctly, I think we may be fourth or fifth cousins, once or twice removed! I would be related to your side of the family through Jennie Beronio, the sister of Maddalena and Maria Beronio, both of whom appear to have married your ancestor Charles Macchio.

My great-great grandparents John Michael DeVincenzo and Jennie (Beronio) DeVincenzo appear a few times in the correspondence you have included in your tree (Thank you for sharing!), and in fact I can clear up a mystery for you. My grandfather Robert and his parents Harry and Maria changed their last name from DeVincenzo to Winchester by choice, to appear more "American." My grandfather is nearly 90 now and we only recently were able to get a copy of the certificate of name change from him, as it was a big family secret that they used to be DeVincenzos. The secrecy is what inspired me to start my own genealogical investigation to trace the DeVincenzos back to Italy.

At any rate, it was amazing to me to see these things come up and cross over into your research. My name is Samantha Siefert (as I think you can see way down at the bottom of my tree on Ancestry), and my email address is sam.siefert@gmail.com if you would ever like to be in touch. I would be curious to hear what my quite distant cousins are up to! And I can try to get you documentation regarding the name change if that would be of interest to you.

Thank you so much for sharing your information on Ancestry; it has been so interesting to me. I hope this message finds you well.

Best,
Samantha Siefert

Hi, Samantha!

Thank you for confirming what I have been researching for several years!
I've been checking out this new information with great enthusiasm!
The fact that two of the Macchio orphans lived with the DeVincenzos convinced me they had to be related.

I have been taking a break from ancestry - and realize I don't have access to even some of my information!

I would love to see the documentation on the name change.

Sorry I didn't send this sooner!

Hello Ann,

I was so happy to hear back from you! I am still organizing all of my information, most of which is scattered between myself and various other relatives. I have been on the phone a lot trying to get everyone's stories straight. My grandfather is Robert Winchester, originally born Robert De Vincenzo, and it's his side of the family that I'm working on. As I said before, the name change was a big family secret, and his younger brother tells me that he did not even find out about it until the day their father died, when he overheard his mother whispering "Should we tell him?". I have attached a partial copy of the court order for the name change (We think my grandmother must have the second page!) as a start.

The Devincenzos have always been a bit of a family enigma. In addition to the name change, my great-grandfather Harry Devincenzo was one of reputedly thirteen brothers and sisters, though I could only find ten in the census information. My grandfather says that when his grandfather John Devincenzo passed, the many siblings fought over the inheritance, down to the mattress that he died on, and that it was an all-around ugly affair. Only some of them stayed in touch. My grandfather's father Harry was the youngest, and I think that your family may have known the oldest sibling, Charlie, who also changed his name to Winchester. Charlie was one of the siblings my family stayed in touch with, and when I asked my grandfather about him he said that the interesting thing about Charlie was that he had 'somehow' become a bit wealthy. Maybe you knew him better than my family did, but one speculation was that he'd made the money gambling on horse races. There are no shortage of gambling rumors on that side of the family, as one story goes that in just one night a family member both lost and won back the lease for their restaurant.

I noticed that wild stories abound in your family lore as well, so I will take the liberty to share one more Devincenzo legend. My great-great-grandfather John Devincenzo worked in construction as a brick layer. This much is true, I think, as confirmed by some census records and--I think--some documentation regarding the brick water tower on Jones Beach, on Long Island. The story goes that he also helped build the Holland Tunnel, but that one day his wife Jean had a terrible feeling and asked him to stay home from work. He acquiesced, and that happened to be the day that a terrible accident killed several men on his crew.

That is everything I can tell you about the Devincenzos, for now. Ostensibly we would be related through John Devincenzo's wife Jean, who I am trying to confirm was a Beronio. Her social security application lists her maiden name as Baroni, which is the closest I have at present to a primary source. Otherwise, the connection is mostly conjecture based on the census stating that Charles Macchio was a nephew, and some of your research that indicates there may have been four Beronio sisters. Hopefully I will be able to uncover some more concrete evidence.

Another thing I noticed was that some of your research is on the Monteverde family. On a different branch of my family tree, my great grandmother Annette Bertoli had a cousin Isabella who married a John B. Monteverde. That may be a coincidence, but perhaps not since social and geographic circles were often smaller then. Maybe that is a distant connection as well!

It was great fun for me, at least, to see some of the ancestors I am trying to trace down show up as question marks in your research. You said that you haven't used Ancestry of late, but I appreciate that you shared your research there. I was skeptical of what I might find, but it has been a fun adventure so far! Please me know if you think of anything you might add to my stories. And if you don't mind sharing, I would be happy to hear about your family and where that branch of Beronios ended up!

Best,
Samantha Siefert

26 July 2019
Hello Ann,

I hope you are well, and I hope you won't mind that I am writing you again, this time with a few questions!

I am coming along with my family ancestry search. I am still waiting on the official record, but I have attached a summary of Jennie Beronio Devincenzo's death certificate, which (allowing for mediocre transcription) appears to confirm that her parents were Antonio Beronio and Caterina Finocchieto.

This leads me to a few of the same questions that I found in your notes, and I was wondering if you ever got any answers? Plus I have a few questions of my own!

1. Were you able to confirm that Jennie was the sister of Maddalena, Maria, and Paula through the records in Arzeno?
2. Did you ever find out anything more about the Finocchieto family line?
3. I see that you were in touch with Maria Paganini De Vincenzo, and someone named Simona. What is Simona's relationship to Maria? Do you think that they would mind if I reached out to them? I am especially curious about Maria's last name, De Vincenzo, because it is the same as Jennie's married name. I am trying to track down her husband John, and I wonder if there might be a connection between the families.
4. Is there anything you could share about Charlie Winchester[Devincenzo]? He was my grandfather's uncle (and I think he was the first of my family to change his name to Winchester), but my grandfather doesn't remember too much about him. I wonder if he was married or had children.

My personal goal is to get as far as John and Jennie's original birth records in (I think!) Arzeno, and perhaps see what I can find from there. Your research has been immensely helpful and fascinating, and I can't thank you enough for sharing it on Ancestry.

I also wanted to share with you that on another branch of my family tree, a woman named Isabella Bertoli married a John B Monteverde. I know that you were researching the Monteverdes, so perhaps this is a distant connection to you. Isabella would have been John and Jennie Bertoli Devincenzo's daughter-in-law's cousin (what a mouthful!), but a connection would not surprise me as they all lived so nearby in New York. I have traced the Bertoli family back to Camogli, not too far from Arzeno, on the coast of Genoa.

Thank you again for your enthusiastic research, and for being in touch.

Warm regards,

Samantha

Hi, Samantha -

I have only recently gotten back on to ancestry so haven't found too many new tidbits.
Please feel free to write Maria. As I recall, she lives in Paola Beronio's home.
Samantha was a neighbor, I believe - and helped with translation.
The parish priest found the record I shared.
I haven't contacted her again since that time - and would love to get an update if you have success reaching her.
If I find anything else of interest, I'll pass it on to you.
Meanwhile, please stay in touch and share your family with me as well!!

Many regards,

Ann

29 October 2019
Hello Ann,

It's me again! I'm still sorting through my genealogical research, and I've found a few things about the Macchio family that might be of interest to you.

In your notes you had noted that my great-great grandfather Giovanni De Vincenzo was a witness of Dionisio Macchio and Maddalena Beronio's marriage. Well, I have just received a copy of Giovanni's marriage to certificate to Angela Beronio, and it appears that Dionisio was their witness in return.

Something more curious is that I believe I have found some records related to the death of Maria Beronio Macchio. An uncle was able to visit Angela (Jennie) Beronio's grave at Calvary cemetery in Queens, New York, and there were a few other people buried with her, including a Macchio. The text reads "Mario Macchio," and I had assumed it was one of the Macchio children, but when I took a closer look at the dates I believe that perhaps there was a spelling mistake and it is her sister Maria that is buried with her. I believe this could be the death record. What do you think?

I know that you are a descendant of Dionisio Macchio, but was your great (great?) grandmother Maddalena or Maria? Your research has been immensely helpful to me, but I am slow at putting all of the (winding, convoluted!) pieces together.

I did write to Maria Devincenzi in Arzeno, but I wrote by snail mail in (poor) Italian, and I have not heard back yet. If I find out more, I will write you.

I sent her some family photos, and I thought I might share them with you as well. The photo on the left is me (in the yellow coat) with my 100% Italian grandfather Bob Winchester (born Roberto De Vincenzo) and my grandmother Betty Jean Anderson Winchester. The photo on the right is my immediate family: My brother Robert Siefert, my father Tod Siefert, my mother Virginia Nelle Winchester Siefert, and me, Samantha Siefert! The photo was taken at Glacier National Park in Montana a few summers ago. Now you can put a face with my name ;)

One last thing: I think I may see if I can have someone search the parish archives in Arzeno for the records relating to Angela Beronio, and possibly Giovanni De Vincenzo as well. If you have any questions, or anyone you would like me to include in my search, please let me know and I will add them to my investigation. Also, if you have any experience or advice about searching for records in Italy, I would be happy to hear it!

That's all for this email. Thank you again for your kind correspondence.

Best,
Samantha

You know, I do believe you've found Maria's burial site! I am descended from Maddelena - and she is in this plot. You probably know they used to bury people on top of one another in NYC? I wonder how close your section is to this one? So sad - Dionisio was 41 and Maddelena just 28 - and after losing so many babies. I have never found out who the little Eutro Figone is who was buried with them. It says there are 8 graves, but only 7 names were provided.

The family photos are lovely. Thank you for sharing them.
If you are on Facebook - my page is at pcolamus although a search for Ann Hill should find me. It's a long story as to how I got that handle, but it's short for Pensacola Musicians (which I'm not).

I can't tell you how precious every tidbit you discover is! Decades ago, I lost contact with my only living first cousins (my dad's sister Eveyln's daughters). Well, recently I made contact with one of their daughters through ancestry. She has copied much of the Macchio research, so I feel this will also continue through her! Her mother (also Evelyn) doesn't do much on computers, but I'm hoping her daughter will add some to the family history. Patience is everything!

I just wanted to write a quick note - will dig up more later.

Letter from Penny Coruzzi

Letter between

Dear Ann,

I guess you have "given up" for an answer to your letter. I've had a "bad" year – as I had a mastectomy in March and then the hurricanes (2) took toll of me. I live between the ocean and a river (a barrier island) so I did have some damage – not too extensive but – to get people to repair things (my husband passed away six years ago). As I'll be 83 years old this month, I find I do not handle things as I once did!

I know my cousin Miriam sent you some information, as her nephew was trying to trace some of the Macchio's too.

I'll list things below as I know them –

I do not recall who Michael and Jane De Vincenzo were. I think they might have been cousins of your grandfather – How? I don't know.

Adolf Marubbio – I seem to think he was a cousin. But I don't know which side.

You mentioned that you are puzzled about Dionisio Macchio's marriage to Maria Beronia. Something you probably don't know is that Dionisio was married twice (2) – to 2 sisters – one you mentioned, Maria Beronia, the other I don't know her first name or which he married first.

Children from the first marriage were:

1. John – married to Kitty – 2 daughters
2. Charles – your grandfather
3. Mamie – 2 daughters, one son

Second marriage:

1. Steve – Miriam and Stephen. (Uncle Steve's wife – Helen)
2. George – married? Not children
3. Fred – was christened Louis Fedrick – It was changed to Fred (I was told) because my Aunt Mamie did not like Louis.

My father Fred was born in New York but when his mother died, his aunt Paula* (Beronia) took him and raised him as an only child. She moved to Delaware so that he wouldn't find out that he was not their son. They finally settled in Italy – where my father met and married my mother.

* Sister of the 2 women Dionisio married (one Maria, the other Maddelena)

Charles Winchester – a cousin of my father's (I think) I do recall his father was "checked in" at Ellis Island and being they couldn't pronounce his name, they put Winchester down and the family kept that name.

I don't know if I shed any light for you, but we didn't discuss family in those days past – everything was taken for granted and now that so much time has passed, it's really hard to get together. But – you seem to be doing a great job.

I spoke to my cousin in Italy. She is now living in the house my father's aunt (Paula Beronia) left him. Her husband's name she was married to is David Possagno. I don't know if this will help you at all but Maria said if you would write her (she doesn't know English – but she'll get someone to translate and go to the priest to see if she can get you some information.)

The address is:

Maria De Vincenzi
Dian Di Fieno
Per Arzeno #26
Ne. Genoa – Italy

I'm really sorry I'm sending you this mess, but I know I wouldn't do any better if I do it over, and I've taken too much time to get this to you. (Sorry I'm not into e-mail.)

I'm reading this over – I realized you didn't know that Dionisio Macchio was married twice – at least I cleared "that up."

If you get to Pensacola, try to pay me a visit.

I'm getting this in the mail before I change my mind about the mess!

All my best wishes,

Penny

Dear Ann,

After the research in the achives of the church in Arzeno (Ne) it results:

1. In the registers of baptisms, marriages and deathes, there are no Giovanni Macchio and Maria Rebussone

2. There are not Dionisio Macchio and his family

3. It results that Maddalena Beronio, daughter of Antonio and Caterina Finocchietto was born in Arzeno on the 8th March 1862.

4. It doesn't result her marriage with Dionisio Macchio. The second wife of Dionisio Macchio, Maria Beronio, was her sister and was born in Arzeno the 25th August 1870. Another sister, Paola, born the 15th April 1864, married with Davide Pessagno, born on 1st October 1832 and dead the 23rd August 1827. Paola dead the 15th April 1914

5. It doesn't result Maddalena Beronio and Dionisio Macchio married in Arzeno (perheps in America?)

6. The only news about Macchio family we find in the census of 1922. The family was composed in this way:
    a. Pessagno Davide, widower of Paola Beronio
    b. Macchio Alfredo Luigi, born in New York on the 17th May 1898
    c. Paganini Marcella, daughter of Andrea, married Macchio, born in Maissana on the 27th August 1897
    d. Macchio Ortensia, born on the 5th January 1922
    e. Macchio Federico, born on the 24th June 1923
7. About Macchio Ortensia and Macchio Federico Dionisio exist also baptism acts, where they result sons of Luigi Federico (not Alfred), son of Dionisio (died) and Marcella Paganini. Perheps their father is named Alfred and also Luigi Federico.

If you wish to make an offer to the church every sum is welcome.

Many greetings

Maria Paganini

Subject: Re: your research on the Beronios and Macchios

Hi, Maria and Simona!

I just got back from a trip to Florida and found your beautiful note! Thank you so much for the research. I will go to the bank and find out how I can send the San Lorenzo church a donation. If I can just send a check.

I want to make sure I understand what you found - and combine it with what I know. Please let me know if you see any mistakes:

Antonio and Caterina Finocchietto Beronio had three daughters:

1. Maddalena Beronio, born in Arzeno on the 8th March 1862. She must have married Dionisio Macchio in New York City. She died at age 28 on the 8th of August 1891 in New York City. Dionisio Macchio died at age 41 on Oct. 13, 1898 in New York City.

2. Paola, born in Arzeno the 15th April 1864. She married Davide Pessagno, born on 1st October 1832 and dead the 23rd August 1827. Paola died on the 15th April 1914. Were they married in Arzeno or New York?? She adopted Maria's son, Federico Luigi Macchio.

3. Maria Beronio, born in Arzeno the 25th August 1870. She married the widowed Dionisio Macchio in New York City on Sept. 10, 1892. Witnesses to their marriage were: Giovanni De Vincenzo and Angela Cafferata.

The Italian census in 1922 shows these people living in Arzeno (in one household?):

1. Davide Pessagno, widower of Paola Beronio.
2. Alfredo Luigi Macchio, born in New York on the 17th May 1898.
3. Marcella Paganini, daughter of Andrea, married Federico Luigi Macchio. She was born in Maissana on the 27th August 1897. She died in Bergen, New Jersey in 1984.
4. Ortensia Macchio, daughter of Freddie and Marcella, born on the 5th January 1922.
5. Federico Macchio, son of Freddie and Marcella, born on the 24th June 1923.

San Lorenzo has the baptismal records of Ortensia and Federico Macchio and the three sisters.

Regarding Alfredo Luigi Macchio: I think the census may have made a mistake and this is actually Federico Luigi, husband of Marcella. I checked the Social Security records on the Internet and found this. It is almost the exact birthdate for Alfredo:

Name: Louis Macchio
SSN (social sec number) 127-40-2928
Last Residence: 07626 Cresskill, Bergen, New Jersey
Born: 27 May 1898
Died: Nov 1983
State (Year) SSN issued: New York (1965-1966)
Name: Marcella Macchio
SSN: 092-38-7101
Last Residence: 07626 Cresskill, Bergen, New Jersey
Born: 27 Aug 1897
Died: Jan 1984
State (Year) SSN issued: New York (1963)

Freddie Macchio, husband of Marcella, arrived at the port of New York on Feb. 11, 1923 aboard the ship Giulio Cesare, which left from the port of Genoa. So he would have been in Arzeno during the Italian census of 1922.

NOW, HERE ARE MY QUESTIONS:

1. Do you have any idea what town the Macchios may have come from since they don't seem to be from Arzeno?
2. I see that Marcella was born in Maissana - how far is that from Arzeno? Are your Paganinis related to the famous violinist Nicolo Paganini, also from Maissana?
3. Would it be possible to get copies of the baptismal and other church records you found, especially Maddalena's? Did Antonio and Caterina Beronio have other children besides the three daughters you mentioned?
4. Do you think we can find the parents of Antonio and Caterina Finocchietto Beronio through the church? I cannot find very many Finochiettos on the Internet, so it must be a small family.
5. How do you feel about continuing to search? You have been a terrific help - but I don't want to ask for more of your time than you are willing to give! My desire is to dig back as far as possible into this family.

Many, many thanks!
Ann

Subject: Re: Finocchietto

Ann:
First, I'd like to introduce myself and let you know about my present family. I'm 58, married to Jorge Gilligan (Argentine from Irish origin) for 35 years. We have four children, two sons and two daughters.
Marcos (34, engineer in Food Technology and MS in International Commerce, divorced, one child: Martín);
Lisandro (33, physician, PhD in Sports Medicine, married to Florencia, biochemist, one child: Santiago); Jorgelina (31, MS in International Commerce, married to Karim Mitre, economist - Peruvian – one daughter: Catalina)
and
Luciana (30, psychologist, not married, no child)
All of them live in Argentina except for Jorgelina's family (Lima – Perú) and Martín who lives with his mother in Madrid – Spain.
My husband and I are living in Lima, Perú for the second time since 2003 (first 1992-1998) He's a UN staff, representative of UNOPS (office for project services) in Perú, and I'm a consultant to UNESCO (organization for education, science and culture) As you see both of us work for the UN. We've been living in different countries in South America and Europe. We got our MS and Ph.D at Purdue University in Indiana, at the beginning of the 80s. Jorge's major is in planning (economics and statistics) and my major is in teaching methodology.
My father, Enrique Esteban, nicknamed Toto, Argentine, died ten days ago at the age of 85; that's why I'm in Balcarce, my birthplace, a small city in the south-east of Buenos Aires province, accompanying my mom, Noelia, 83, Argentine but from Italian origin too. Toto was the third and last child of Stefano Finocchietti, born in 1877 in Missano (city that doesn't exist under this name at present); it corresponded to a bunch of small villages, now under the ruling of Chiavari City Hall, Italy) Stefano was one of the children of Antonio Finocchietti and Caterina Maggi (I have to search about other brothers and/or sisters) I assume Antonio could be your great great grandmother's brother or cousin. Stefano, my grandfather, married to Florentina Lanfranconi, daughter of Giovanni Lanfranconi from Torino (Italy) As you get the picture, I'm 100% Italian in origin, but Argentine by birth.
While living in Europe, I had the opportunity to visit Chiavari three times.

It's situated south of what is called the Italian Riviera (Liguria); it's a very beautiful place. In 2000 I went with my parents and my father wanted to know where the Finocchietti's used to live. I inquired at the municipality and a lady, very kindly, told me a big old house up in the hill belonged to this family. We began searching and finally a neighbor in the village of Cogorno took me to an abandoned house and told me the last Finocchietti living there (Mario, a physician), who had died five years before donated the property to some institution I don't remember the name; his children and grandchildren had been living in the States for a very long time - after they left, never came back. The house looked as been at least 300 years. The landscape is marvelous, overlooking the sea. My father felt so touched, that as a souvenir he pulled a few little branches from a lemon tree and some small olives, the typical flora of that place, to bring to Argentina as a gesture of belonging to that part of the world, his real roots. I regret not being able to go to the cemetery in order to search for members of the Finocchietti and Maggi families. My husband promised to go back to Chiavari in two years, when he retire and begin my "research". That's something I intend to do if God allows me, because I want to tell my children and grandchildren where all of us come from. The same we'll do with the Gilligans in Ireland.
On the other hand, it's possible the other Finocchietti you tried to contact doesn't understand, read or write English; that's why they didn't answer you. I do know there are Finocchietti in Cordoba (big city at the center of my country) but I didn't want to bother them with my inquires. Perhaps if you know somebody who can write in Spanish, probably they will respond other questions you may have.
In any case, please let me know every information you get, so we can stay in contact, sharing pieces of our ancestors lives. You are very welcome to ask me whatever you want; and now I'm very anxious to know about you and your family.
My daughters are also anxious to know what is coming next in this story.
If you are willing I can scan a picture of Stefano, so if you have any of Caterina, you could compare if they share some features. My grandfather was rather short (1,69 m) very blonde with light blue eyes. My faher and I inherited his eyes.
Many regards,
Susana
PS.

because I don't look my speedy so often.
Thanks

Hi, Susanna,

What a surprise that we are the same age - I just turned 58 this month!

I live with my 12-year-old dog (a white toy poodle) in San Francisco, a block from Golden Gark Park and about six blocks from the Pacific Ocean. I find this city quite fascinating - the neighborhood I live in is more than 50% Asian, with a large population of Russian immigrants as well. It is common to walk down the street and hear a number of different languages being spoken. There is a section of this area devoted to Asian markets, with fresh fruits and vegetables and all kinds of imports. California has such a mild climate and grows so many fruits and vegetables, it's a wonderful state for vegetarians like myself. (I do enjoy seafood on occasion when I'm dining out.)

I have been divorced for 15 years, almost as long as I was married! I have two grown children, Teresa, who also has a degree in psychology but prefers to be a folk guitarist and songwriter. She has one daughter without benefit of marriage - Mikela - age 8 - who holds my heart. At present, my daughter is living in the mountains of Colorado. My son, Aaron, put his studies on hold to pursue dental student who was interning in San Francisco. They broke up and he realized he had $2 in his pocket (love can do that, huh?). He convinced a Cadillac dealer to teach him the business and now is general sales manager at a new Nissan dealership in Pensacola, Fla., on the northwest gulf side of that state. He just bought his second house (he's renting out instead of selling the first house because 5,800 houses in the state were destroyed in last year's devastating hurricanes and caused rent to go sky high.) He is the family capitalist.

It's a very diverse family - my ex-niece is Julia "Butterfly" Hill - whom I still call my niece when I see her on occasion (her father is my former husband's brother and I remain close to his former wife, Kathy). Julia became a household word when she sat in a giant redwood tree in Northern California for TWO YEARS! She was protesting the lumber companies who were destroying all the old-growth trees. She wrote a book about her experiences and the director who recently produced a film about the singer Ray Charles is going to do a movie based on her book. You may have run into her in the news when she was kicked out of Ecuador, I believe, for picketing some industry headquarters there. She was jailed a few days - but she said the jailers were very polite and even let her walk around the courtyard against the rules. Right now, she is touring the country in a beautiful Prevost bus that's been converting so it can run on used shortening/vegetable oil that she gets from restaurants along the way. I'm proud to say that she is part-Italian on her mother's side. Her mother was a Del Gallo.

My father was 100% Italian, but while he was working in the Civilian Conservation Corps, set up by President Franklin D. Rosevelt during the Depression in the 30s to give work to young men, he helped establish Yellowstone National Park in the West and then went to a camp in Tennessee. There he met and fell in love with my mother. Her family has been here practically since the country was established, some of them landing in New York when it still belonged to the Dutch and some of them from England, Ireland and Scotland, who helped open up Kentucky and Tennessee. I have two Revolutionary soldiers that I've located, and probably more when I dig further. Her great-grandfather was actually killed by a bear and several in her family were scalped by Native Americans. One of her great-uncles wrote the first history of Texas (Henderson Yoakum) and when Sam Houston (for whom the city of Houston, Texas is named) was dying, he said he wanted to be buried near his good friend Henderson. I've been to their graveyard, and there are two obelisks from the citizens thanking each of them for their contributions. Henderson's grandson helped connect the railroads, and when I researching him, I found his picture on the front page of the New York Times. He was a consultant to the president at that time.

I wish I could tell you as many details about my Italian family. I was raised in Detroit, Michigan (not too far from Purdue as the globe goes), far from my Italian relatives. We visited at least once a year, but my grandmother, born in New York City, was also pretty far from her roots as well. My grandfather, also born in New York, died the year I was born, so I never got a sense of his family either. I do know that he had a glass company and did well enough in that. When he died, my grandmother began buying and then selling her home, always moving to a house a bit nicer than the one before. They both grew up in the tenements of Little Italy in NY and I think having a home on Long Island took her as far away from that life as she could get. But I always was told they were from Genoa, which seemed to set them apart from the later batch of immigrants, who were mostly from Southern Italy. It took a decade after my father's passing on for me to realize I really don't know anything much about his family. And so I began to try to piece what I could find from what my sister and I recall (she's 11 years older than I).

Most of what we had to do first was UNDO the little bit we thought we knew. My grandmother (Monteverde Macchio) was a first-rate storyteller. We really thought my grandfather's father was buried in the Brooklyn Bridge - turns out he is peacefully resting in a cemetery in Queens, New York. It goes on and on. Naturally, her father was the illegitimate son of a count who gave his mother enough to come to America. Her brother actually said he found our Monteverdes on Columbus' crew - but my grandmother was modest enough to say we were related only to a famous explorer (who, as I recall, went to Peru, of all places). I've forgotten his name - maybe you can recall who our famous ancestor was!! Haha. She also told my father, and he believed it, that we were related to the famous early actress Myrna Loy. As far as I can discover, Myrna Loy didn't have an Italian bone in her. And we supposedly had one aunt who ran with the mafia and had her finger cut off to get the big ring she wore - and then was stuffed down a manhole in Chinatown. The closest to the truth that came was that the gangster Lucky Luciano is buried near where our family plots are.

I did locate 2 of my dad's elderly cousins and one of them, born in Italy, gave me the address of a cousin I didn't know about in Arzeno, near Chiavari. This cousin went to the church and found out my great-grandparent's names - and that is where the Finocchietti came from.

So here's what I have so far through New York and Italian records:

My grandmother was Nell Monteverde.
Her parents were Domenico and Maria Monteverde. (I don't find a surname for Maria. My grandmother wrote Maria Monteverde on her wedding certificate, which might mean that was her surname, too.) Maria's death certificate only states that her father was "Pietro" and her mother "Maria." I haven't been able to find a NY death certificate for Domenico and have written to New Jersey to see if perhaps he died there. That's all I have on them, except for some of Domenico's children I'm piecing together bit by bit. Domenico and Maria came to the US in 1870-71.

My grandfather was Charles (Carlo) Monteverde.
On his marriage certificate, he wrote that his parents were:
Dionisio Macchio and Maria Beronio
That is not quite correct, however, as his mother was actually Maria's sister Maddelena who died very young. It's quite possible Maria is the only mother he recalled. A third sister, Paola Beronio Pessagna, adopted Dionisio's baby son, Luigi Federico, when Maria died, also at a young age. They took "Freddie" back to Arzeno and he married Marcella Paganini, who was born is Maissana, according to the church records in Arzeno. Freddie went back to the states in 1923 - and it's his daughter who's in her 80s who helped me with the cousin's address.

On Dionisio's marriage certificate (to Maria), he states his parents are Giovanni Macchio and Maria Rebussone.

From the Arzeno church (I think it's San Lorenzo) I learned the following, which I am just copying and pasting from the e-mail:

1) In the registers of baptisms, marriages and deaths, there are no Giovanni Macchio and Maria Rebussone

2) there are not Dionisio Macchio and his family

3) it results that Maddalena Beronio, daughter of Antonio and Caterina Finocchietto was born in Arzeno on the 8th March 1862.

It doesn't result her marriage with Dionisio Macchio. The second wife of Dionisio Macchio, Maria Beronio, was her sister and was born in Arzeno the 25th August 1870. Another sister, Paola, born the 15th April 1864, married with Davide Pessagno, born on 1st October 1832 and dead the 23rd August 1827. Paola dead the 15th April 1914

4) it doesn't result Maddalena Beronio and Dionisio Macchio married in Arzeno (perheps in America?)

5) the only news about Macchio family we find in the census of 1922. The family was composed in this way:
- Pessagno Davide, wedovver of Paola Beronio
- Macchio Alfredo Luigi, born in New York on the 17th May 1898 (should be Federico)
- Paganini Marcella, daughter of Andrea, married Macchio, born in Maissana on the 27th August 1897
- Macchio Ortensia, born on the 5th January 1922 (this is the cousin I am corresponding with)
- Macchio Federico, born on the 24th June 1923

About Macchio Ortensia and Macchio Federico Dionisio exist also baptism acts, where they result sons of Luigi Federico, son of Dionisio (died) and Marcella Paganini.

Many greetings

Maria Paganini (DeVincenzi)

What I surmise from this is that while this seems to be the parish church of the Beronios, it doesn't appear to be Macchios' parish.

So it was after this recent hunt that I began looking for Finocchiettis - and you are my only source for this. Two things occurred to me since your note: (1) Could Maggi and Macchio be variations of the same surname; and (2) could Marcella Paganini have been born is Missano, not Maissano. There is a Maissana in Liguria, and it's actually not far from where the famous composer Nicolo Paganini was born (Carro). But Missano/Cogorno is a lot closer.

I've loved to get your thoughts on this - until I can get a firm clue where to look, I'm stuck!

Many regards,

Ann

Dear Ann:

I read your message on genforum and I have reason to believe we are distantly related. My grandfather was Joseph Francis Corsiglia. His parents were Francis Corsiglia and Marie Macchio. Marie was the daughter of Madelena Beronia Macchio and Dionisio Macchio. Dionisio and Madelena had four children, Marie, John and Charles. An infant named Anne died early in life. Madelena died and Dionisio remarried her sister Marie. They had 3 more Children, Stephen, George and Frederick. We are attempting to track them down.

I have documentation that substantiates my claim and would be happy to share them with you. Please feel free to contact me. I would love to hear from you.

Regards,
Patricia Bernstein

Dear Ann,

Thanks for contacting me. There is a relative, Al Mattera on Long Island who has thoroughly documented the Corsiglia Family. He is now working on the Macchio/Beronia side. I have some documentation. We have copies of Dionisio and Marie's wedding certificate and a copy of Charles and Nellie's marriage certificate.I will send these to you if you wish.

We are going to hire a professional geneaologist to track down the children from the second marriage. We know they and their offspring were living on Long Island. I would be very interested in finding out about the other families you mentioned on gen forum, Marrubio and Masaocchi. Who were Michael and Jane DeVincenzo ? Could Jane have been a Beronia. There were 4 sisters who lived in the Village and one never married and one went back to Italy.

It may interest you that Ann is a common name in the family. My middle name is Ann and my Aunt Beverly has the middle name Ann.

Helen Corsiglia married Tom Murray and they had 2 sons, both of whom passed away in their sixties. My grandfather was Joseph and he married Edna Schmidt and they had my mother and aunt. Both of them are still alive.

Pauline married John Pagnini Jr. and they had a set of twins both of them are in their 70's and live in New York.

William Corsiglia had more than one child andf they moved to California and some still live there.

I will send you any information you wish if you will provide me with a snail mail address.Interesting, I found a complete history of my father's family by contacting a person who was a distant relative on the internet. Look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,
Patricia Bernstein

Dear Ann,

Thank you for contacting me. Your information is a literal treasure trove and It's so exciting. Oddly, my husband was once stationed as a Navy flyer in Pensacola.That was many years ago. The information that Madelena died of breast cancer is interesting, no one in current memory has contracted that disease.

This is very very good info and it appears we have relatives in Italy. I was told that Dionisio came from Chiavari and the Beronias came from a village called Arzeno which is close to Genoa. Their family owned a flour mill. Some years ago, We were in Nice and drove over to Italy and I recall seeing signs for Chiavari.

Let me tell you about myself. Joseph Corsiglia was my grandfather and he named my mother after his sister Pauline. Pauline had been named after her grandmother Paulina Paola. Paulina came from an orphanage in Genoa and married Giacomo Corsiglia and moved to the States. I have 3 sisters and one brother and I am 56. I have been married for 22 years and we have a 21 year old daughter and a 12 year old daughter. The youngest one is 12 and was adopted from Russia. I am a Registered Nurse and my husband was fortunate to take early retirement. We moved here 14 years ago for his job in the computer industry.
My husband is Jewish and I am Catholic. Although, I am struck by the names Miriam and Abraham and wonder if any of our antecedents may have been Jewish. From reading this it appears we have relatives in Italy and Argentina.

I will send you some history next week. Thanks

Regards,
Patricia Bernstein

Dear Ann,

I've done a little more research and have discovered that there is a Corsiglia Italy. It is not far from Genoa and close to the little towns of Ognio and Nerione. These two towns also have many Corsiglia family members in it. I was reviewing your e-mails and my mother thinks the Catherine who was married to one of the Maccios, was the aunt Cate she remembers. They had a daughter also named Cate. If you find them in the census, please let me know.

Hello Patricia,

I have been researching my family genealogy and found you through some research that Ann Hill shared on Ancestry.

I am a descendant of Jennie Beronio DeVincenzo, who I believe was the sister of your ancestor Maddalena Beronio Macchio. As I'm sure you know from your own research, it's a long and complicated history! My grandfather is Italian and all four his grandparents, including Jennie, were born in Italy. I have gone through most of the USA-based research and now I am working on tracing their roots in Italy.

I have attached the document I have compiled outlining my family research thus far, which I am still updating to include more information about the Beronio family history. If you have any research that you would like to share, or advice on genealogical research, I would greatly appreciate it!

Also, do you happen to still live in the Austin, Texas, area? My Italian ancestors went to New York City, then Columbus, Ohio, and now I am in Austin, too! My boyfriend works in tech and I followed him here. I am a Spanish to English translator myself.

I hope this email finds you well. I would love to hear from you.

Best,
Samantha Siefert

Dear Samantha,

I'm thrilled to receive your email and still reside her in Austin. All I know about Maddalena is that she came from a small town in Italy arriving in the states with 2 of her sisters.

Some were I have the name of the village they were born in. Fortunately, there is a Beronio cousin who has a lot more info. Maddalena had a daughter who married my great grandfather, Francis Joseph Corsiglia and five children I think.

We all lived between New York City and upstate New York. I grew up in Kingston, New York and have lived down here since 1992. My husband was in high tech until he retired.

I am a RN who has taken a hiatus from working and have time to meet you. I will be going through my records and will get them to you I hope you will stay in touch.

Pat

14 January 2020

Pat,

I'm so happy to receive your reply! Looking at my family tree I think we would be fourth cousins(?), through our mutual great-great-great grandparents Antonio Beronio and Caterina Finocchieto. How wild! It would be exciting to meet. I teach a few classes early in the morning, but otherwise my schedule is flexible. I live on the north side of town, near the Arboretum. When are you free? Where should we meet?

I think the town that Maddalena and Jennie are from is called Arzeno. It's a very small town in the mountains not too far from Genoa. There may be some descendants of Jennie and Maddalena's sister, Paola, who still live there. I thought that was very cool. I am working to get all of my documentation together and will be sure to pass it along to you.

I wonder if you know the family of Al Beronio from New Jersey? They seem to have done a lot of research and have ancestors from Arzeno, but I haven't quite figured out if/how their Beronios are related to ours. I haven't been able to get in touch with them myself to ask, but their documentation is on Ancestry.

Best,
Samantha

14 January 2020

Dear Samantha,

Yes, I do know Al Beronio he lives in New Jersey and some years ago I met him and his wife in Penn Central and we went out to lunch at my favorite Italian restaurant in New York. I have a piece of research I can send you if you will provide me with your mailing address. Al's grand parents originally went to Argentina and then came to the states.

I'm basically tied up for the rest of the month, but have a lot of time in February. I'm frequently over in the area you live in, Trader Joe's is my favorite place to shop. Perhaps we can meet then.

PS--You are right they were from Arzeno. Maddelena's father was a miller and she came with five sisters.

Pat

Pat,

That sounds great! I hope to see you in February. There is a nice Starbucks next to the Trader Joe's that we could meet at.

I'm so charmed that you met Al Beronio in New York! My uncle and his family still live there and I have been wanting to visit and investigate some of the family history sites. My grandfather always talks about how his Mom used to fill the whole kitchen making raviolis, but then Raffetto's opened and they went there to buy them instead. Raffetto's is still there! You can tell me about your favorite restaurant when we visit.

Thank you for forwarding me your research. I look forward to it. Write to me when you're free in February and we'll find a time to get together.

Best,
Samantha

Dear Samantha,

I have put that info in the mail and an article about Raffetto's from The New York Cookbook. I know that business and years ago bought some products there. Rather than go to Starbuck's, perhaps we could have lunch at the Macaroni Grill.

I cried when we left New York. However, our life is better down here and it's very hard to make a good living up there and my other complaint is that the state is run by morons. I had a dispute with New2 York State and finally came out on top.

15 January 2020

Dear Samantha,

I went through my old pictures of my grandfather Corsiglia and my mother and aunt who looked like him. Al Beronio in New Jersey bore a strong resemblance to them. I remember my great grandmother Corsiglia who was born a Beronio and my grandfather favored her in looks.

Hello Pat,

Thank you for putting everything in the mail for me. I appreciate it!

Lunch at the Macaroni Grill sounds great. I look forward to meeting you. We can exchange genealogy information and gossip about following men with tech jobs to Texas. I will be very curious to hear about your grandfather Corsiglia, as I have read a little about him in Ann's notes and when trying to piece together family trees. I would love to see your photos.

Write to me when you know your schedule in February and we'll make plans.

Take care,
Samantha

Dear Samantha,

I'll be in touch next week I have to go and get that new license with the gold star on it.

Pat

22 January 2020

Dear Samantha,

Did you receive those ancestry trees I sent? I will be free Friday February 31 about One O'clock? We could meet then.

I went through old pictures of the family and found a photo of Maria Macchio who was the daughter of Maddelena and Dionysio Macchio. I also have photos of my grandfather and mother and aunt.

Pat

22 January 2020

Hello Pat,

Friday February 31 at 1:00pm will be great! Can't wait to see you!

I received your letter this weekend. Thank you for enclosing the history of Raffetto's! My grandfather is 87 years old but I still hope we will make it there together someday.

Indeed it was a very good weekend because I also received a letter from the small parish church in Arzeno. I am including a photo and my transcription. The other Beronios the priest refers to in the letter is Al Beronio's family from the tree that you sent me. I can't quite figure out exactly how our Beronios are related to their Beronios, but I'm sure there is a connection somewhere. Maybe you know and can explain it to me!

I have been updating all of my documentation with the information you've sent me. When I'm finished I will send you a copy. Looking forward to your photos!

Best,
Samantha

30 January 2020

Dear Samantha,

Are we still on for Friday at the Macaroni Grill 1pm? I made copies of some pictures of my grandfather Corsiglia and his mother to give to you.

30 January 2020

Hi Pat,

Yes! I'm looking forward to it! My number is (614) 746-6109 if anything comes up.

3 February 2020

Hi Pat,

Thanks for meeting with me on Friday! I called my Beronio-descended grandfather and told him about our lunch. He thinks it's funny I am meeting more family members than he knows himself! I think he appreciates it, though, since his parents weren't forthcoming about his heritage growing up.

Anyhow, it was great to hear about your life and how you ended up here in Austin. I have the photos you brought sitting by the door and when I can get to the library I will copy them for my book. Thank you again for bringing them!

Take care,
Samantha

Family rec

Letter from Al Beronio

Gem!

This is a photocopy of the chart I e-mailed to you. The side showing my immediate family has some interesting aspects. It would appear that the "real sister", as Stefano called her, was born a mere 9 months after my grandfather's first wife died. A little "hanky-panky" or did my grandfather re-marry very quickly, given the urgency of caring for 3 young daughters? Probably, in the society & time of that era.

I actually know more about the eventual fate of some of those that Mr. Chiappe cannot trace or find evidence for. My own grandfather is buried in Buenos Aires, as I explained in my earlier e-mail, where he went, with his 3 daughters by his first marriage, & my father.

The real mystery that haunts me is the "real sister" who would have been 2 yrs. older than my father. Neither my Italy relatives nor my Argentina relatives know anything about her --- if she even existed. If she never materialized in Buenos Aires then surely she died in Arzeno & one would think the church records would clearly show that.

By the way, notice the reference (when describing my grandmother) to "Caseprone, a village in Rappio near Arzeno". This is the confusion I described to you in that it makes Rappio appear to be an entity on a level above that of merely a companion village.

I'm not sure what to make of Stefano's cryptic at the end ---" and it is really all".

Incidentally, I am named after my aunt, Maria Alfreda. Never found out why my father may have had a particular fondness for that sister. Maria sure was a popular name, no?

You may have noticed that Stefano, despite his command of english, has trouble at times with the gender of pronouns. He writes to me & refers to my "husband".

The map is enclosed in the event you have not yet located Cergeno on commercially available maps. It's a small place that is not important. You see that it is up in the rugged hills above Chiavari, letting there is an interesting trip once one leaves the coastline.

Good luck in your continuing search.

Al

P.S. My grandmother is buried in Calvary Cemetery which is near the one you mentioned (St Johns?)

Gee, it never occured to me, but your story may lie in the records of the church in Rappia, not Cergeno. If you stand in front of San Lorenzo, you can see the church in Rappia across the valley.

P.S. Mr. Beronio, excuse me for my bad english. I am a bachelor of Arts, I live in Arzeno and I saw you and your husband only for a moment in the church when you came in Arzeno. I made a research in the archives few years ago about your father.

Mr. Beronio,

your grand-father FRANCESCO BERONIO (Born in 1830) married in 1868 (November
MARIA BORASINO called also MARINA
They had many children:

FELICE	MARIA GIUSEPPINA ADELAIDE	MARIA GIACINTA	MARIA CLOTILDE	MARIA ALFREDA	ADELAIDE	SILVESTRO
Born Nov. 16th 1869 Died Dec. 12th 1871	Born Dec. 6th 1871 Died Sept. 17th 1882	Born Dec. 1st 1874	Born June 5th 1877	Born July 16th 1880	Born Febr. 3rd 1883	Born Jan 26th 1885

Your grandfather's 1st wife, Maria, died in 1887 (Jan 26th) and he married again
Your grandmother (the 2th wife) ROSSI ANGELA (of Casesoprane, a village in Reppia near Arsen
After two years bore your father:

FRANCESCO DOMENICO BERONIO Born Jan 27th 1889

and a sister: MARIA TERESA Born Nov. 29th 1887.

So we may conclude that:
Your father had many sisters (half-sisters) on his father's side and also a brother. But we don't know: 1) if they died when your father was a child or young (in these Archives I find nothing) 2) Where they came.
Your father had also a sister a real sister but we know nothing about her like the others. When your father bore your grandfather was not very young (59 years) So I think he didn't live many and many years. He didn't die in Arseno I don't know where.
I take the liberty of suggesting you to ask your cousins who live in Argentina what was their father's or mother's name and after you may control if it corresponds to these ones.
I did all I can; all that I find in the archives (and it is really all) I wrote.

Sincerely yours
Mario Stefano Chiappe

Re: 34-6-Q-24

Dear Mrs. Siefert:

Please be advised that we have searched our records and find an Emanuel Bertoli, 67 years old, born in Italy, buried on October 13, 1949 in the above described graveholding. There is also an Anita Bertolo, 57 years old, born in Italy, buried on January, 22, 1945 buried in this grave. This grave was purchase by Emmanuele Bertoli. There are three burials in this gravesite. If you would like an interment list, the fee would be $140.00 ($120 for the first name and $10 for each additional name). We also find a Jennie DeVincenzo, 63 years old, born in Italy, buried on September 15, 1932 in section 15, range 37, plot O, grave 2. This grave was purchase by John Vincenzo. There are six burials in this gravesite. If you would like an interment list, the fee would be $170.00.

We did not find a John (Giovanni) M. DeVincenzo, buried in our cemetery on or about 1920 to 1930. Please be informed that our records are kept in chronological order on microfilm. In order for us to locate a grave we need to be provided with an exact date of death or date of burial.

I trust that this information proves helpful and we are pleased to have been of assistance.

Very truly yours,

Joseph Giulietti

Conte Biancamano 23 June 1928

From Wikipedia:

Conte Biancamano was an Italian ocean liner launched in 1925. The name was chosen in honor of Humbert I Biancamano, founder of the Savoy dynasty. She was built in the Scottish shipyard William Beardmore & Co. in Dalmuir, near Glasgow. She was built for the Genovese shipping company Lloyd Sabaudo, operator of the Conte Rosso and Conte Verde. The engine, equipped with two steam turbines double reduction unit and two propellers, allowed her to reach a speed of 20 knots, and vented in two funnels. She housed 180 passengers in first class, 220 in second class, 390 in economic class and 2,660 in third class.

Conte Biancamano was the first of two sister ships, her sister Conte Grande not seeing completion until 1927.

Conte Biancamano was launched 23 April 1925, and made her maiden voyage on 20 November 1925 from Genoa to New York, sailing, as expected, on a direct route to North America. The ship, provided with all the most innovative amenities of its time, was intended primarily as a luxury liner.

Salve,

Si ha il piacere di comunicare che è stata definita la pratica di riconoscimento della cittadinanza italiana.

Si coglie l'occasione per informare, inoltre, che ogni cittadino italiano residente all'estero è tenuto a comunicare tempestivamente al Consolato competente eventuali modifiche e variazioni del proprio stato civile (es: nascita di figli, matrimonio, separazione, divorzio, decesso, variazioni di domicilio e trasferimento della residenza, acquisto di una cittadinanza straniera).

Ogni comunicazione dovrà essere corredata dalla relativa documentazione attenendosi alle istruzioni del Consolato competente per giurisdizione.

Si comunica, ad ogni buon fine, che il Comune di appartenenza in Italia è: VARESE LIGURE (SP).

Per ulteriori informazioni sui servizi consolari si prega di consultare il nostro sito web: www.consdetroit.esteri.it

Hello,

It is with pleasure that we inform you that the application for Italian citizenship has been positively finalized.

We would also like to remind you that any variation in your family status must be registered with the Consulate. Family status variations include marriage, birth of children, divorce, death, changes of address, etc.

The City Hall in Italy in which you have been registered (AIRE Registration) is: VARESE LIGURE (SP).

Since it takes time for the Italian City Hall to register vital records, you are kindly requested to wait 6 months before applying for an Italian passport. For information about the procedure and for scheduling an appointment with the passport office, please refer to our website: http://www.consdetroit.esteri.it/consolato_detroit/en/i_servizi/per_i_cittadini/passaporti or contact the passport office at: passaporti.detroit@esteri.it Congratulazioni! Congratulations!

XII Closing

Future Points of Research

1. John DeVincenzo: I would love to know more about John's birthplace, and how the spelling of the family name evolved.

2. John and Jennie DeVincenzo: When did they arrive in America? Where is the record of their boat passage? (Ronnie had them down as immigrating on the "Burgundia," arrival 6/11/1883 from Naples/Palermo, but I have not been able to find the record. Interesting if they immigrated together!)

3. The other DeVincenzos, Harry Winchester's 10 brothers and sisters and their descendants: Where are they now? Do they know anything about our ancestry?

4. Dionisio Macchio: Where was he born? Did he know John DeVincenzo in Italy? He married both of Jennie DeVincenzo's sisters and John was a witness at the wedding.

5. The mysterious Maria DeVincenzo: How is she related to the family? She died at the family house on Prince Street and is buried with Jennie DeVincenzo. It seems that she was only in the USA for a few years before she passed away in 1893, but I have not found an immigration record. Her parents are given as Giovani and Maria DeVincenzo on her death certificate, which would indicate that DeVincenzo was her maiden name if accurate. Maybe she was John's aunt? She was born in 1828 and John was born in 1862, so she would have been about 34 when he was born. It's possible she was John's mother, but his mother's name is given as Angela Marguerita on his marriage certificate, and Jennie Perrino on his death certificate.

6. What became of our relatives in Arzeno? Saldy, I have had no luck writing to Maria Paganini DeVincenzi. She may have moved or passed away. I wonder if there is any connection with the DeVincenzo name.

7. Who was our relative that was rumored to be a tugboat captain? (Charlie Monteverde?)

8. Who were the relatives Annette Winchester visited in Argentina?

To-do list:

Those who are with us
and those who came before us

We thank you
